SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Owners would do well to bear in mind that all entries for the County Down Hunts' (Downpatrick) Steeplechases close to-morrow with Mr. Brindley.

Lord Glanely has given the name Westward Ho! to the colt by Swinford, out of Blue Tit, for which he paid 11,500 guineas at the Doncaster yearling sales last September. The colt is a half-brother to Blue Dun.

Mr. T. A. Stirton's b. h. Cetigne, by Grafton—Pretty Nell, set up a new Australian and New Zealand record for one mile on November 6 by winning the Linlithgow Stakes at Flemington in 1 min. 37 secs. The previous best were 1 min. 37 1-5 secs. by Gloaming in New Zealand, and Satin Bead's 1 min. 37½ secs. at Randwick. Cetigne, who also holds the Australian record of 2 mins. 4½ secs. for a mile and a quarter, has now run in 68 races for 18 firsts, 15 seconds, and 9 third, and £26,232 in prize money.

The New York World, commenting on the news that Mr. W. Herbert Fowler, the golf course "architect," is on his way to America, says that prospects of his taking part in International exhibition matches are "somewhat stymied" by the fact that Fowler, in the United States, has no amateur status. On the other side course architects and greenkeepers are not classified as professionals, but the United States Golf Association a few years ago ruled otherwise. This places Fowler in such distinguished company as Walter J. Travis, former amateur champion of Great Britain and America; Devereux Emmet, and A. W. Tillinghast."

750 THREE-YEAR-OLDS HANDICAPPED.

Under the above title Mr. Horace Lennard, of "Town Topics," has issued a brochure which will be found very useful by students of racing. Weights have been allotted by him to 750 of the now three-year-olds which ran in England last season (those that carried silk in Ireland are omitted), and though, of course, not official, his appraisement of their abilities should be helpful in the matter of winner finding. The horses are arranged alphabetically, and classified according to their performances as two-year-olds at five, six, and seven furlongs and one mile, so that reference is easy. Copies of the Handicap can be obtained at £1 each from "The Head Lad," "Town Topics" Office, 85 Fleet street, London, E.C. 4.

WARD UNION STAGHOUNDS.

Owing to the flooded state of the country these hounds will not hunt to-morrow (Wednesday).

THE WARD UNION STAGHOUNDS.

As the result of a very heavy and continuous rainfall on the previous night, the whole countryside was practically under water on Saturday, when the fixture listed was 9th Milestone, Ashbourne road, but, despite the uninviting weather conditions, a large field assembled there, including a great number of the landowners of the neighbourhood. In the absence of the Master, Mr. James Ennis assumed command, and the enlargement took place, by invitation, on Mr. Thomas Plunkett's land, just north of the village of Ashbourne. As could only be expected, with the country in such a water-logged condition, scent was very poor, and this fact, combined with a crooked running stag, made progress rather slow. Hounds, however, overcame all obstacles, and succeeded in turning the day to good account. Hunting very steadily, they went from Moor Com to the Rath, and across Mr. Duffy's farm to the Bog of Curraha, where they bore to the left and went on by Hammondtown to Ratoath Cross-roads. Then over the main road, through Cookstown and Crickstown to Sutherland, where an outlying deer had crossed the line of the hunted one, and the huntsman had some difficulty in keeping hounds on the same line. As the stag had crossed the river, which was unfordable, hounds had to be brought around to the bridge and re-laid on at Mount Ambrose, and they went on through Foxhall and Ballyhin, back by Cookstown and the Court to Borranstown, where a safe capture was effected.

BOXING.

IRISH WELTER-WEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP.

Mick Ronan's Narrow Victory.

Under the auspices of the Ulster Association of ex-Service Men a series of boxing contests were held last night in the Ulster Hall, Belfast. The chief bout was that for the Welter-Weight Championship of Ireland between Mick Ronan, of Dublin, and Pat M'Allister, of Belfast. After the twenty rounds had been covered Ronan was declared the winner on points.

Jim Dwyer (Dublin) gained a victory over Alf. Lowtner, of Bow, whose seconds threw in the towel as a token of defeat in the ninth round.

Kid Doyle (Dublin) lost to Billy Maguire (Belfast) on points. The remaining contests were between Belfast boxers. Fred Monaghan knocked out Chas. Dugan in the second round. Jack Kempton was disqualified in the eighth round for using his head against Rifleman Grogan. Alexander punished Mick M'Guigan so severely in the first round that the referee stopped the contest in Alexander's favour.

ROSSI OUTPOINTS POUTET.

Leon Poutet, the French light-weight, who recently effected such a creditable draw with Carley Walker, put up another good showing with Francis Rossi at the Ring, London, yesterday. He went the full twenty rounds. Rossi was faster and craftier, but, try as he would, he could not unsteady the French lad, who was quite as strong as his conqueror at the finish.

At the Hoxton Baths, London, yesterday, Mike Blake (Notting Hill) defeated Joe Swift (Wigan) in the nineteenth round of a twenty rounds contest.

Dido Gains, of Vauxhall, who was seriously wounded in the war, made his re-appearance in the ring, and boxing with much of his old form defeated Johnny Lewis, of Bermondsey, in the sixth of a ten rounds contest.

BILLIARDS.

Interval scores:—Newman (rec. 1,500) (in play), 2,104; Inman (scratch), 13.

These professionals commenced a match of 16,000 points up, on level terms, at Leicester square, London, yesterday. Interval scores:—Smith (in play), 623; Falkiner, 600.

AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

CHARGE AGAINST AN EX-SOLDIER.

In the Southern Police Court, Dublin, yesterday, before Mr. Lupton, K.C., William Jackson, an ex-soldier, was charged with being found on the premises of the Royal Barracks, Dublin, and unable to give a satisfactory account of himself. A military policeman said that the accused presented a pass which had expired on the 31st October last, and which bore the name of R. Savage. He appeared to be under the influence of drink, and was handed over to the civil police. The prisoner's Army papers showed that he had served five years and ten months, and had attained the rank of sergeant. He said that he had been in the habit of visiting the barracks every Sunday, and had been stationed there for some years before the war. The case was adjourned generally, and the accused man was released.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

GAIETY THEATRE.

Demand for admission to the Gaiety Theatre (Dublin) pantomime, "Old King Cole," is as great as when the curtain was first raised on St. Stephen's Day. This is the best testimony that could be given to Mr. Warden's production, which promises to eclipse previous records. In every department the pantomime is well provided with all the attributes that make a successful entertainment. Songs, dances, music, and comic interludes are all delightfully entertaining, while in point of scenic equipment the production is richly endowed. The artists are thoroughly capable and admirably suited to their parts. Miss Dorothy Vaughan, as the principal boy, is as popular as ever; and Miss Moya Nugent is a charming princess. The humorous elements are effectively provided by Mr. Fred Beck as the Dame, Messrs. Naughton and Gold as Maurice and Cuthbert, the Valdo Brothers the King's Fiddlers, and Mr. Dick Henderson as Micky, whose pirate song is a most popular feature. The Sonrays also contribute to the success of the pantomime by their graceful dancing. The music is admirably played by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. W. S. Nabarro. There will be the usual matinee to-morrow.

THEATRE ROYAL.

At both houses last evening the audiences at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, accorded hearty appreciation to the musical combination which calls itself "Symphonia." It consists of four young ladies and a gentleman, and their performance was singularly artistic and musically beautiful. Mr. Corner is the possessor of an excellent tenor voice, and his rendering of his several numbers displayed, especially in "Mother of Mine," remarkable refinement of feeling, which captured his hearers. Miss Marguerite Loriot's violin solos were greatly appreciated, while Miss Bertha Dugon's performance on the 'cello proved her to be an artiste of the first rank. Miss Helena Beaufoi sang a couple of songs which showed her sweet soprano to advantage, and Miss Ethel Brigstock is a pianist of rare ability. The ensemble was, indeed, a perfect symphony. Miss Daisy Dormer is not only a good vocalist, but also a dancer of a very dainty grace and charm. Her descriptive song of the girl tram conductor appealed particularly to the audience. Lowenwirth and Cohan, Hebrew comedians, are very good entertainers, their dialogue being brisk and witty. The Arraneys give a funny comedy act, and Scott Gibson, in Scotch costume, tells some humorous short stories, and sings a couple of songs which go very well. Frank A. Nolan and Louis Holt are excellent vocalists. The "Great Wieland," who is not unknown to Dublin theatre-goers, gives a wonderfully amusing show in which his dexterity with various articles is unsurpassed in his line of business.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

The Christmas pantomime, "Jack and the Beanstalk," continues to attract large audiences to the Queen's Theatre nightly, and so marked is the measure of success so far achieved that the production may be confidently pronounced one of the most successful of the long series of similar entertainments staged at this popular house. The pantomime is literally the creation of Power and Bendon, two of the most versatile comedians on the Dublin stage, and their quaint business, clever patter, and merry songs and dances, keep the house in merriment every moment they are on the stage. They are well supported by Will Murray, who knocks plenty of fun out of the stage widow's part of Mother Muggles; while Miss Florrie Ramsay makes a graceful principal boy as Jack, and sings and dances in a manner that has won the hearts of the audience. The Lennox troupe of dancers add much to the enjoyment of the pantomime; while the chorus and orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Levenston, leave nothing to be desired.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The production of "Cinderella" in the Empire Theatre continues to attract the greatest attention. There is no lack of variety in the whole performance, and last evening the pantomime was thoroughly enjoyed by crowded houses. Miss Betty Oharna, in the rôle of "Cinders," has established herself a prime favourite, and the same remark applies to Miss Queenie Finnis, the Fairy Prince, whose singing of popular songs is one of the features of the production. Mike Nono, well known as the "dancer with the twinkling feet," scores in his impersonation of the Baroness, and Mary Connolly, as the Fairy Godmother, sings with every acceptance, and takes her part also with success. The other rôles are effectively filled, and fun and merriment are rife throughout. Extra attractions are, of course, provided, and in this regard the Eight Shamrocks, the Devil-May-Cares, the Ascots, and Little Mike O'Hare should be mentioned. The pantomime has had a very successful run up to the present; it gives every promise of securing the same gratifying patronage during the coming week.

TIVOLI THEATRE.

The programme at the Tivoli Theatre this week is one of all-round merit, and the audiences at both houses received the entertainment with enthusiasm. Mr. Tom Warren, a favourite Dublin pantomime artiste, gave two or three songs in first-class voice and style, and he was warmly applauded. Arch Hill, also a pleasant tenor vocalist, was heard with attentive appreciation, and, had stage management regulations permitted, he would have had to respond to a demand for an encore. In a vocal, juggling, and dancing act, Fred. Laurie hit the taste of the house, and received his share of applause. The Goodwyns (a juggling lady and the Gollywog) gave a turn which was good in every way. Miss Edie Haley, a male impersonator, sang a couple of character songs, and was particularly successful in a jolly Jack Tar impersonation. The Havana troupe of comedy acrobats were extremely diverting. Power and Williams displayed their talents as whistlers; and Billy Dunn, as a coon comedian and dancer, gave an attractive little show. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Taylor, played as an overture "Shandon Bells," and at the interval a selection from "Die Hydropaten" (Gung'l).

PICTURE HOUSES.

BOHEMIAN PICTURE THEATRE.—A screen translation of Mrs. Baillie Reynolds' well-known novel, "The Man Who Won," was given for the first time in Dublin in the Bohemian Picture Theatre, Phibsborough, yesterday. This Samuelson production was an easily-followed illustration of the story, and portrayed Owen Nares and Isobel Elsom in the central characters in a graphic manner, which made the film a very acceptable one. It will be shown at all the performances to-day and to-morrow. The bill was completed with well-selected pictorial items on a smaller scale.

THE CARLTON CINEMA.—In the Carlton Cinema yesterday the principal attraction was a film representation of the story related in Israel Zangwill's novel, "The Melting Pot." As a photoplay it formed a striking spectacle, that gained popular approval, and commended itself to the large attendances during the evening and at night. To-day and to-morrow it will be repeated. "The Stars as They Are" was the title of an interesting series of views of screen favourites and of the Los Angeles studios, which formed part of the programme.

PRINCESS CINEMA, RATHMINES.—"When Love Loses" is the title of the big picture that was put on the screen at the Princess Cinema, Rathmines, yesterday. Mabel Van Buren and two thousand performers appeared in it, lending it vigour and life. Comedies were also provided, and the Gazette and items of topical interest.

PILLAR PICTURE HOUSE.—A very enjoyable programme was submitted in the Pillar Picture House yesterday, the film "Kiss or Kill," with Priscilla Dean in the leading rôle, proving a great "draw." In addition to this contribution, there were various animated scenic topics that made up a pleasurable bill.

THE SACKVILLE PICTURE HOUSE.—A drama entitled "Who Loved Him Best?" was produced with success at the Sackville Picture House yesterday, and will be repeated up to, and including, to-morrow night. The actress Edna Goodrich is seen in a leading part. Pathé's Gazette, Irish Events, and a comedy were additions to the programme.

TOWN HALL PICTURE HOUSE, RATHMINES.—The Town Hall Picture House, Rathmines, will, it is announced, be re-opened on Monday next, when Annette Kellerman, in the "Queen of the Sea," will be the principal film.

KINGSTOWN PICTURE HOUSE.—The patrons of the Kingstown Picture House enjoyed immensely last night the well-screened version of Leon M. Lion and Nan's play, "The Cobweb." It is in five acts, well staged and acted, with full melodramatic flavour. A good programme was otherwise composed of topics, comedy, and interest pictures.

KINGSTOWN PAVILION.—Ethel M. Dell is a most popular authoress. Those who feel the appeal of her presentation of life and its problems had last night at the Kingstown Pavilion the opportunity of seeing one of her most successful novels screened with admirable success. The characters are brought as near to life as can be hoped for without the voice, and the story is absorbing. Music of first-class quality, and excellently rendered, was an additional pleasure to all the regular features of the Pavilion entertainment. On Thursday Mary Pickford will be the great attraction.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY RECITALS.

CLARIONET QUINTETS.

First Violin..............Mr. Hans Wessely.
Second Violin...........Mr. Spencer Dyke.
Viola.........................Mr. Ernest Tomlinson.
Violoncello..............Mr. P. Patterson Parker.
Clarionet..................Mr. Charles Draper.

The Royal Dublin Society recitals were resumed yesterday afternoon, when two important clarionet quintets and a quartet for strings alone made up the programme. All were fine performances widely divergent in style, and alike only in the consummate care and nicety with which they were given. The balance of the Mozart Clarionet in A major especially was of hair-breadth adjustment, and kept one at breathless attention where the slightest flaw would have rent the fabric of the work. It is so with most of the Mozart Chamber music—the apparent simplicity exacting the utmost of playing and restraint from the artists, and keeping the listener at like tension. In the Larghetto of this quintet the pure serenity of tone of the clarionet, backed by tensely-played muted strings, made the movement a real thing of beauty, not emotionally appealing, but perfect in its sheer beauty of sound—the highest musical beauty, according to Whistler. This fine accord, less tense, accentuated the grace and rythm of the Menuetto, and even in the Allegro con variazioni was maintained in its simply-flowing style. Through both quintets Mr. Draper's command of tone-quality was a constant pleasure, especially in the higher register, and his ppp was always the very first degree of sound. The clarionet, of all instruments, lends itself to grading, and Mr. Draper was completely satisfying in crescendo and diminuendo as they occurred—particularly in the Brahms Quintet. Here the reedy intensity of the clarionet's lower register made for much of the colour, helped by 'cello touches, and a certain disregard for rythm which arrests us in all Brahms' work. Beautiful as was the Clarionet Quintet in B minor, Op. 115 (Brahms), with its many exquisite phrases, one missed the cohesion and sincerity of Mozart and thought of the Larghetto, even in the Brahms' slow movements. The string quartet, "Orientale and Valse," from "Novelettes," Op. 15 (Glazounow), from its florid vivid opening, with buoyant pizzicato rythm-marks throughout, was brilliant work, and must have come in the nature of relief, after the restriction of the strings as more or less accompaniment to the clarionet in the quintets. Altogether this concert made for a memorable afternoon.

PELMANISM

One of the reasons why Pelmanism is such a help to those who practise it is that it develops just those qualities which enable their possessors to "make good" in any sphere of life—such qualities, for example, as —Concentration.

—Initiative
—Perception
—Energy
—Foresight
—Judgment
—Resourcefulness and Habitual Accuracy.
—Organising Power
—Self-Confidence
—Optimism
—Originality
—Determination

which, when acquired and trained by Pelmanism, give them a new outlook on life, and generate a spirit of splendid optimism—based upon accurate self-knowledge and mental efficiency—which carry them through all difficulties and enable them to win their way speedily to success.

Full particulars of the Pelman Course are given in "Mind and Memory," which also contains a complete descriptive Synopsis of the 12 lessons. A copy of this interesting booklet, together with a full reprint of "Truth's" famous Report on the work of the Pelman Institute, and particulars showing how you can secure the complete Course at reduced fee may be obtained by calling to the Institute, or will be sent, gratis and post free, to any reader of the Irish Times who applies to The Secretary, No. 116 PELMAN INSTITUTE, 51B DAWSON ST., DUBLIN. THE ROYAL IRISH ACADEMY.

At a general meeting of the Royal Irish Academy, which was held at the Academy House, Dawson street, Dublin, yesterday evening, the Provost of Trinity College presiding, a paper by Mr. W. B. Wright on "Minor Periodicity in Glacial Retreat" was read, in which the author described the arrangement of the terminal moraines of the Quaternary glaciers of the Killarney district, and concluded that they indicated a climatic periodicity similar to that established by Brückner for more recent times.

A paper by Professor J. A. McClelland, F.R.S., and Mr. A. Gilmour, M.Sc., on "Further Observations of the Electric Charge on Rain," was also read. During the past year observations were made of the electric charge on rain, both under ordinary weather conditions and during the few thunderstorms that took place. Snow and hail were similarly studied. The electric charge was always easily measurable, and, while it was greater during a thunderstorm than in ordinary rain, it was not of a different order of magnitude, as might have been expected. Large snowflakes and large hailstones had a specially high charge—even higher than on the same weight of thunderstorm rain. A theory had been put forward to explain thunderstorms by the breaking up and electrification of raindrops in the violent upward air currents that take place in such weather conditions. In the present paper an analysis was made of how the charge depended on the type of rain, the size of the drops, and other factors, and the part played by the charged rain in connection with atmospheric electricity in general and thunderstorms in particular was discussed.

THE DETENTION OF A BICYCLE.

At the Dublin City Sessions yesterday, before the Recorder, Frederick S. Dodd, 17 Windsor terrace, Fairview, sued Thomas W. Thornton, 37 Rathmines road, for £4 10s., the value of a bicycle, his property, left with the defendant for repairs and detained by him. The plaintiff's case was that he got a man named Monaghan to leave the bicycle, which was a Beeston-Humber, about seven years old, in the defendant's shop to be repaired and cleaned. Subsequently the plaintiff called several times for the bicycle, but was always put off with an excuse.

Mr. Bradley, for the plaintiff, said that when the defendant was written to, he wrote in reply denying that the bicycle had been left with him for repairs or storage, and added—"A friend of his brought in a bicycle of an antiquated pattern, but, at the same time, we have a claim for storage at the rate of 2d. per day and 4d. for Sundays—£6 15s."

The defendant said that he knew nothing about the bicycle, which, if left in at all, was left in before the Rebellion. If the bicycle had been left in for repairs there would have been an entry in the book.

The plaintiff said that he had refused a bicycle which Mr. Thornton had offered him, as it "would not carry him thirty miles."

Mr. Monaghan said that Mr. Dodd gave him the bicycle to keep for him as he was leaving his residence. That was some time before the Rebellion. The witness brought it to Mr. Thornton to have it stored.

The Recorder gave a decree for £2.

Mr. G. S. Rutherford, solicitor, appeared for the defendant.

DO YOU KEEP
careful watch upon that important part of your physical organisation—the digestive system? It will repay you well to do so. The work of digestion involves operations of great complexity and the organs concerned are very liable to be thrown out of order. A disordered digestion will bring immediate discomfort—sometimes indeed very great distress—and if the condition should be allowed to continue it may ultimately produce a condition of ill-health more or less chronic. The wisest course to pursue is to arrest the trouble at once, before it gains a hold upon the system. To this end,
BEECHAM'S PILLS
will be found of the greatest service. This valuable preparation has won a great reputation for arresting attacks of indigestion, removing biliousness, banishing sick headache, preventing constipation and restoring the system to normal efficiency. There are many people to-day who are keeping themselves in perfect health both easily and inexpensively. They simply take Beecham's Pills having proved their splendid value as a curative agent and also as a preventive medicine. The result of their experience is that they never allow themselves to be without a box ready for instant needs. MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS, 15th JANUARY, 1920.

TO THE ELECTORS OF
No. 2 AREA
(Comprising CLONTARF EAST, CLONTARF WEST, DRUMCONDRA, and GLASNEVIN WARDS).

CANDIDATURE OF
JAMES BRADY,
SOLICITOR.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—
As a consequence of the dissatisfaction generally expressed by citizens with regard to the management in recent years of Municipal affairs in Dublin, and after pressure from many large ratepayers, I have consented to be nominated as a Candidate for Election to represent above area of the City in the new Municipal Council.
Should you consider it desirable to VOTE FOR ME AS ONE OF YOUR CHOICES, I shall, if returned, endeavour to carry out the trust reposed by you in me to the best of my ability, and USE TO YOUR ADVANTAGE MY PRACTICAL CIVIC EXPERIENCE IN THE INTEREST OF THE FUTURE GOOD GOVERNMENT OF THE CITY.
Owing to knowledge of civic affairs, I discovered the fact early last year that the annual Municipal Estimates for the current financial year CONTAINED AN OVERCHARGE OF FOUR THOUSAND POUNDS TO THE ALREADY OVERBURDENED RATEPAYERS, WHICH OVERCHARGE WAS ADMITTED BY THE COUNCIL. This sum must be recouped to the Ratepayers in the coming year.
While making no vain claim that rates can be reduced to any great extent under the present system of government, valuation, and taxation, I do, however, assert that many economies in civic management can be effected, and that vastly improved public services should be rendered to all citizens by every Department of Municipal Control in return for DUBLIN CITY'S PRESENT HUGE ANNUAL LOCAL GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURE OF OVER £1,250,000 (ONE MILLION TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND POUNDS).
I do not propose to further trouble you by personal canvass or election literature, and, beyond this Address, leave the subject of your vote to your own judgment, with this request: that you will please show your interest in, and desire for, the good civic administration of the City by recording your vote for such representatives of your choice as you may consider best suited for the position.
I am,
Your obedient Servant,
JAMES BRADY.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—
You have had my Address in your possession for the past week.
Most of the aspirants for Municipal Honours are telling you WHAT THEY WILL DO. I have told you some of the things I HAVE DONE, which, I take it, is the best guarantee I can give you of what my future action will be should you return me as one of your Representatives. I base my claim not on length of service, but on work accomplished.
Should you desire me to continue, you will ALL come to the Poll on Thursday and cast your First Preference Vote for
JAMES MORAN,
RETIRING ALDERMAN.
My Name is 16th on Ballot Paper, thus:—

The Irish Times.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1920.

The German newspapers express general disappointment at the terms of the peace settlement. The King of Denmark has sent a message congratulating King George and the other heads of States on the conclusion of a peace which re-unites the Danes of Sleswig with those of Denmark.

Telegrams from Harbin (Manchuria) state that the revolutionaries have occupied Irkutsk, and that Admiral Koltchak's Army has been dispersed.

No new development took place yesterday in connection with the English railway question, and none is expected until the Government's reply has been received.

The annual meeting of the Linen Guild in connection with the Royal City of Dublin Hospital was held yesterday. A letter was read from the Lord Lieutenant, who was announced to preside, regretting his inability to be present, and expressing best wishes for a successful meeting.

At the weekly lunch meeting of the Dublin Rotary Club, in Kidd's Restaurant, Grafton street, yesterday, the Rev. William Anderson, M.A., Headmaster of Mountjoy School, delivered an address on "The Education Bill," in the course of which he welcomed the bill as a new charter of life and hope for the Irish teacher.

The Roman Catholic Dean of Kerry, in condemning the attack on Mr. Serjeant Sullivan, at the last Mass in Tralee on Sunday, said that he felt bound to say that in his opinion Serjeant Sullivan's language in his speech in court was not restrained enough, especially in reference to a clergyman who was much respected by his people.

A district courtmartial at Galway yesterday dismissed a charge brought against Thomas Keaveney, a pawnbroker's assistant, of Athlone, of having purchased a rifle from Private William Milne, of the Gordon Highlanders.

Parts of the South and West of Ireland were visited by a severe storm of wind and rain on Sunday. In some parts of the County Roscommon houses were blown down. The Shannon is in flood, and low-lying lands adjacent to it are covered with water.

On Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday the market was rather unsettled, but prices generally closed better. "Shells" were very strong.

The Teachers' Voice.

The value of what is called "public opinion" in Ireland is well illustrated by the story of Mr. Macpherson's Education Bill. To outward seeming no proposals of the British Government ever were rejected more scornfully or more whole-heartedly by a large majority of the Irish people. The Bill was hardly printed before the whole Nationalist Press, descending on it like Virgil's harpies, befouled it with the most virulent abuse. The Roman Catholic bishops denounced the Bill not merely as a danger to the morals of Irishmen, but as a slur on their nationhood and an insult to their intelligence. Public bodies hastened to take their cue from Church and Press. The Bill was condemned at county and district councils by men who, perhaps, were not very familiar with problems of education, but had a fine gift of general invective. Outside North-East Ulster and the Protestant communities of the South, the Bill did not seem to have a solitary friend in the country. Nobody noticed—least of all, we may suppose, the British public—that two rather important classes in Ireland had not opened their mouths. They were the persons whom, after all, the Bill chiefly concerned—the parents of the children whose education the Bill was to mould, and the teachers. The parents, no doubt, will remain silent because they are unorganised. The teachers are organised, and now, having paid the Bill the compliment of studying it, they have delivered their verdict. The teachers live among the people and know their views. We may assume that the considered statement by the Central Executive Committee of the Irish National Teachers' Organisation, which we printed yesterday, represents also the opinions of many thousands of Roman Catholic parents. This statement shows that the national teachers welcome the Bill with certain reservations, are most anxious to secure its advantages, and would regard its withdrawal as a calamity.

The Teachers' Executive find in the Bill "many proposals which, in our opinion, either effect vast and much-needed improvements in the present position of Irish education or contain within them the possibilities of such improvements." They mention, with other benefits, the co-ordination of the present water-tight systems, the provision of an automatic grant, and "a scheme whereby, for the first time, public representatives will be given a voice in the direction of educational policy." Furthermore, the Executive find that religious influences in the schools are not threatened by the Bill, and they welcome heartily the arrangement which puts education on the rates. A large majority of the teachers are Nationalists, and not all of them, we suppose, are constitutionalists. The Executive dislike the new department which the Bill proposes to establish, and believe that "the teachers generally would welcome a change which would give to the Irish people full and complete control over the education of their children." They do not propose, however, to reject all reform until they can get exactly what they want. This is the most notable difference between the bishops' and the teachers' attitude to Mr. Macpherson's Bill. The bishops' only concern is to slay the Bill and to maintain the status quo. The Teachers' Executive eschew all rhetoric about "foreign fetters," and express their willingness to accept the Bill as a substantial instalment of reform. They point out that the country did not make self-government a condition of land purchase or old age pensions. Why should it now refuse better teaching and better wages for teachers until the political problem is settled? The Executive's conclusion is that rejection of this Bill would be "a lasting disservice" alike to the teachers and the taught, and that the immediate duty of all concerned is to co-operate in the framing of amendments which will improve the Bill. We believe that this decision will be endorsed by a large majority of thoughtful Irishmen of all creeds and parties. The Government should accept it as a clear and influential demand for the reintroduction of the Bill at the earliest possible moment in the coming session of Parliament.

The teachers' statement is, indirectly, a political incident of some significance. In recent years no phenomenon of Irish life has been more baffling than the attitude of the Roman Catholic Church to the problems of Irish government. The bishops have done some things which took the public by surprise. They have caused equal surprise by some things which they have left undone. It has been difficult to imagine any definite and considered policy which would give a logical connection to these various acts of commission and omission. A case can be made for the view that the Church desires an Irish Republic—and a not less plausible case for the view that it wants to maintain the Act of Union. Among many uncertainties, however, one certainty emerges. The Church attaches vast importance to its present control of education. It has fought fiercely and successfully for the full integrity of the managerial system. It regards with the utmost suspicion those provisions in Mr. Macpherson's Bill which, by establishing advisory committees and putting education on the rates, admit a measure of popular control. The teachers' statement must force the Church to realise that it is fighting a losing battle. There is not the slightest danger, of course, that religion ever will lose its rightful place in our schools; but it becomes more manifest every day that the secular control of education which is a principle of State in Great Britain can be denied no longer to Ireland. If self-government is postponed indefinitely, no opposition will be able to prevent Mr. Macpherson's Bill, or some similar Bill, from reaching the Statute Book. If self-government comes, says the teachers' statement, one of the first proposals of an Irish Parliament "would necessarily be along the lines laid down in the present Bill." The imminence of secular control of education has become a postulate, and it will be interesting to watch the reactions of this fact on the policy of the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland.

The League of Nations.

As a result of the signing of the procès-verbal on Saturday not only has peace with Germany become an accomplished fact, but the League of Nations has been established automatically. The first meeting of the Council will take place on Friday at the Quai d'Orsay, and President Wilson has been informed by cable of the date, so that he may convene the meeting in accordance with the provisions of the Peace Treaty. Furthermore, twelve neutral States have been invited formally to become members of the League, and their Prime Ministers have been asked to give their adherence to its Covenant. Thus, without America, the League will proceed. Whether or not it is likely to become a living force in international affairs lies in the lap of the future; but many urgent problems await its conciliating genius that its immediate action has become indispensable. There can be no doubt that the defection of America has struck a heavy blow at the idea of a League of Nations. It was conceived in Washington, expounded by President Wilson, and transmuted from the abstract into the concrete mainly through American effort. Now the great protagonist of the idea has been prevented from further activity by his own people. America stands aloof, and on Europe devolves the task of consummating the work which her President began. Fortunately for the League, President Wilson found many zealous disciples in Great Britain and in France. Since his enforced retirement Lord Robert Cecil has assumed the part of successeur d' Alexandre, and has been supported ably by M. Leon Bourgeois in France. The truth is that the British and French peoples are not greatly enamoured by the League. Some "damn with faint praise"; others "assent with civil leer"; but there are few who really believe that a panacea has been found for secular ills. We have always supported the idea of a League of Nations; but, to avoid the fate of the Holy Alliance of unhonoured memory, it must gather all the nations of the earth into its fold. We believe that, eventually, America will join the League, for the very simple reason that her business interests will compel her to join it; but America is not the only country which is standing aloof. Of far greater importance, as we think, is Russia. The forces at work in Russia to-day are fundamentally opposed to the ideals of the League. The League is the apotheosis of democracy; Bolshevism is its negation. Unless and until Russia's millions are converted to the gospel of world solidarity, the League can be regarded only as a Commission acting under the ægis of the Supreme Council. At best, its functions will be those of a glorified policeman. The great menace to the League comes not from Washington, but from Moscow. Unfortunately, the Allies are without a constructive Russian policy. Now that the League of Nations is about to assume control of four Continents, its first endeavour should be to formulate a positive plan. It can continue to ignore Russia; but, in that event, Russia will soon provide convincing proofs of her existence. Apart from the pressing problems which arise immediately out of the conclusion of peace, the situation in Russia constitutes the most fateful and sinister challenge to the League's efficiency. Will it be accepted or refused?

A Coal Shortage.

The Dublin coal trade has carried its point. In future we must pay an additional 3s. 6d. per ton for our fuel in order to compensate the merchants for the increased cost of distribution. It is always the same; the bill for every concession that Labour receives must be met by the consumer. No charge of "profiteering" can be levelled against the merchants. Their evidence before the Coal Committee in justification of their claim was conclusive. At the same time it cannot be denied that the price of coal in Dublin is too dear. So long ago as last November the Government decided to reduce the charges for "bunker" coal by 30s. per ton. Why has that reduction not been followed by a corresponding fall in shipping freights, which, to a large extent, rule our markets? Although the price has been fixed, the coal problem has not been solved. Dublin, in common with every other city in the United Kingdom, is suffering from a shortage of supplies. In London the reserve stocks are almost exhausted, and the queue system has been revived. On last Saturday two queues at various dépôts were larger than those seen at any period since the control of coal was instituted. The reasons for the shortage are not far to seek. Owing to the cold weather exceptionally large quantities of fuel have been consumed during the past month, and, as a result of the Christmas and New Year holidays, there has been a reduction of something like two million tons in the output from the mines. To these factors must be added the chronic difficulties of transport. Until the situation improves the public must exercise strict economy in the consumption of fuel.

More Ships.

The shipbuilding returns for the quarter ended December 31st are more satisfactory than many people had dared to hope. Altogether 137 vessels were launched, bringing the gross new tonnage for the year up to 1,574,835—a vast improvement upon the figures for 1918. For the first time since the war began the amount of mercantile tonnage under construction in British yards exceeds that in American yards. The margin is nearly 28,000 tons. When we add that Canada and other British Dominions have also made considerable progress, it is obvious that the Empire has a very substantial lead in the number of vessels under construction. On the other hand, we must never forget that our supremacy is no longer unchallenged. America may be expected to make another spurt. For her the prize is an important question of profits; for us the position of primacy means something more vital. Our shipping and shipbuilding have always been the backbone of our trade, and there never has been a time when they were so essential to our prosperity. Without more ships we cannot balance the difference between our imports and exports. It will be the work of years to replace the tonnage that we lost during the war, and it depends, almost entirely, upon Labour whether we shall defeat America in the race.

Reuter's Havana Correspondent states that on Sunday afternoon the New Zealand sailed for an unknown destination. Viscount Jellicoe and Sir Robert Borden were on board.

TAXATION OF JUDICIAL SALARIES.

The following letter appears in the Spectator:—

SIR,—Important letters have appeared in The Times and other newspapers on this subject. From the answer given in the House by Mr. Bonar Law, it seems that the matter has never been considered by the Government. These salaries were fixed by Parliament on a basis adequate to enable the Judges of the High Court to perform their duties without fear of pecuniary embarrassment. In return they are obliged to relinquish a lucrative profession; they cannot be directors of companies, nor can they take part in any form of commercial enterprise. This surely amounts to a contract that the Judges would receive substantially the salaries so fixed. This Parliamentary provision is now swept away to a great extent by the imposition of the present income tax and super tax. The Judges never contemplated that they would be made the victims of such a breach of faith. Many of them have entered into obligations for the settlement of their families, and these obligations in the near future they may be unable to meet. So far they have been able to go on by drawing on their savings, but this source of supply must soon be exhausted. I am informed by a High Court Judge that he is receiving less than when he was a struggling junior barrister, and that he is tied to an expensive house which he cannot dispose of. This state of things is a disgrace to the nation, and is a cruel injustice to men whose position prohibits them from public complaint.

They never refuse their valuable special services when requisitioned by the Government. These services, involving great labour and responsibility, are given without extra remuneration. Lord Phillimore has called attention to the injustice of subjecting them to super tax. The Government have provided much-needed relief in the case of County Court Judges and other officials, none of whom have to bear the expense of the traditional duties imposed on the Judges of the High Court. The Scotch and Irish Judges have a special grievance, as their salaries are substantially less, while the cost of living in the three countries is now practically the same. It almost reaches the limit of callousness, if it is true, as we are told, that the Government proposes to impose new duties of the most dangerous character on the Irish Judges. It is a foolish policy to allow the Judges, on whom so much depends, to be kept in anxiety and harassed in this manner. Any loss of the prestige and independence of the Judicial Bench will be nothing short of a calamity to the nation.—I am, sir, etc.,

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

The first fruits of ratification are being reaped by the Diplomatic Service. Lord Kilmarnock, the new British Chargé d' Affaires, started this morning for Berlin, and it is stated that the appointment of Consuls in the principal German towns will be announced almost immediately. The fine German Embassy in Carlton House Terrace has been occupied during the war by the Swiss Legation, which undertook to look after German interests in the British Empire, but the Swiss officials expect to vacate it shortly, when Dr. Sthamer, the new Chargé d' Affaires, arrives in London.

Curiously enough, although the United States has not yet ratified the Treaty, and has given the German Government formal notice that the relations between the two countries are still subject to the terms of the Armistice, an American diplomatic representation in Berlin has already been appointed. This is probably done in order that there may be no delay in resuming commercial dealings between the two countries. Whatever their politicians may do, American traders have no intention of allowing other countries to get a start of them in the great German market.

It is to be hoped that British traders will follow their example, for, however repugnant it may be to their feelings, a resumption of trade with Germany is, in reality, a patriotic duty. The French, who have at least great reason for hating the Germans, have already announced their intention of resuming business with them, for the simple reason that, in the present state of the exchanges, Germany is the cheapest market in which they can purchase certain necessary goods. If we want to bring down the cost of living, and, at the same time, to enable Germany to pay her indemnities, we must do the same thing, taking care, of course, that our key industries are not endangered, and that nothing in the nature of "dumping" is permitted.

Everybody who is interested in the revival of Europe should read Mr. Keynes's remarkable book on the economics of the Peace Conference. It contains some mordant impressions of the principal actors—Mr. Wilson, M. Clemenceau, and Mr. Lloyd George—which give it a certain succés de scandale, but, to my mind, its most valuable feature is the analysis of the economic situation in Europe before and after the war, and I am inclined to agree with the author that, if the material prosperity of the world is to be quickly restored, nations must regard themselves in future as partners rather than competitors.

The diplomatic representative of the Evening Standard says that, in anticipation of the ratification of the Peace Treaty, some of those who are on the Allied list for trial have got away from Germany. Three German officers of high rank have crossed the frontier into Switzerland within the past few days, and the demand for their extradition, similar to that to be made on Holland, will have to be made. We have now no blockade to enforce directly our demands, and the League of Nations has no weapons at all.

The visit of Sir Eric Geddes and Sir Robert Horne to Paris to see the Prime Minister has held up the railway negotiations for a time. But very few people incline to the idea that there will be a strike. This afternoon I travelled to London in a railway carriage containing seven railway workers. They freely discussed the railway situation, and only one of the seven thought that there was the least likelihood of a strike. All the others were of opinion that the terms were fair, and modifications could be arranged. In reply to a suggestion from the one dissentient that a strike might take place one of the group remarked: "How many men will you get to come out?"

At the same time a strike on a considerable scale is by no means out of the question. A strike by the Triple Alliance may be nearer than many people suppose. In fact, it may be regarded as certain that the extremists in the Labour world are very busy formulating plans for future movements. If the Government are wise, they will carefully watch these moves, for they have a serious import.

More efforts by the Government to raise funds for public purposes will be made very soon. Mr. Chamberlain is to meet a gathering on Thursday, when he is expected to announce a new thrift movement in this country; while it is regarded as certain that we shall hear very shortly of the Housing Bonds, a trustee security at 5½ per cent., to be issued by local authorities.

The Government is sweeping out the departments with absolute ruthlessness now. Instructions have been given that no fewer than 75 per cent. of the employés at the Ministry of Munitions are to leave. The blow has fallen rather heavily on the victims, many of whom had assured themselves that there was no hurry, and that their positions were quite safe for months to come, if not years. Protest is being made by the accountants, who are engaged in clearing up long and involved accounts with contractors, on the ground that the winding-up will never be completed if the staff is reduced to one-fourth. Yet those responsible have no pity, and it is quite possible that the Ministry of Munitions will find its huge staff reduced to some three thousand members during the next few weeks.

The terrible gale of the past two days has utterly demoralised all communications by wire. Telegraph and telephone wires are down in all directions, and Dublin is many hours away from London. For the time being there is only one line in use to Manchester and one to Paris, and, despite the almost heroic efforts of the postal officials to join up wires in different directions, success has not been attained, owing to the frequent repetition of the high winds.

VISCOUNT GREY.

Viscount Grey, who is coming to London from Washington on leave, is expected to arrive at Waterloo Station at about 11 o'clock this morning, and will go to the London residence of Lord Glenconner for his stay in town.

A Cairo telegram, dated January [illegible] (delayed) says:—Lord Allenby, after meeting the King of the Hedjaz at Jeddah, will make a tour in the Sudan, which will last six weeks.

COMMAND OF THE LONDON DISTRICT.

The War Office announces that Major-General Sir Geoffrey Feilding will vacate, on February 1st, the Command of the London District, to which he was temporarily appointed on October 1st, 1918, and he will be succeeded by Major-General G. D. Jeffreys.

DUBLIN SHIPPING PURCHASE.

It is understood that Mr. Owen Donnelly, of Messrs. P. Donnelly and Sons, Westmoreland street, Dublin, is associated with the purchase of fourteen coasting vessels across-Channel, at almost half a million pounds. It is not known whether it is the intention of the purchasers to use the fleet of vessels, or any of them, in connection with trade at the port of Dublin.

MR. H. B. IRVING'S ESTATE.

The will of the late Mr. H. B. Irving, who died on October 17th last, has been lodged for probate. The estate is sworn at £39,176 gross, £37,824 net. From this is to be deducted £3,433 estate duty. Pecuniary legacies are left to Mrs. Irving for a sum of £500, and to the two children £100 each. The remainder is left upon trust for sale, the income being payable to Mrs. Irving for her life, and at her death to the two children, in equal shares.

ROYAL CITY OF DUBLIN HOSPITAL.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LINEN GUILD.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR'S WORK.

MESSAGE FROM THE LORD LIEUTENANT.

The ninth annual meeting of the Linen Guild, in connection with the Royal City of Dublin Hospital, was held in the institution yesterday evening, when, in the unavoidable absence of the Lord Lieutenant, the chair was taken by the Countess of Fingall. There was a very large attendance.

At the outset the following letter was read:—

Viceregal Lodge, Dublin,
7th January, 1920.

Dear Madam,—His Excellency desires me to write and tell you that he finds he will be unable to be present at the annual meeting of the Linen Guild of the Royal City of Dublin Hospital, to be held on Monday next. His Excellency hopes that you will be good enough to convey his sincere regrets to the members of the Guild, and his best wishes for a very successful meeting.—Yours faithfully,

E. M. COULSON,
Assistant Private Secretary.

Mrs. Crawley.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The report of the Committee, which was read by Mrs. Benson, stated that they closed the 1918 accounts with £67 in hand. The subscriptions for 1919 only reached £73 18s. 6d. and the expenditure, when the bills were all paid, would be £52 12s. 6d. A very gratifying response was made to the appeal last year asking those interested in the Guild to become life members by payment of the sum of £5, to be invested in War Bonds. In this way £85 was collected, and at their last meeting the Committee arranged to put this sum, and a further £70, in War Bonds, so that they would then have £150 to their credit in bank. In the beginning of 1919, when the matron submitted her list, they found that their funds would not be sufficient to provide all that was required, so they decided to postpone all purchases for some months, in the hope that prices would go down later on. In the meantime the Red Cross hospitals, including the Castle Hospital, and particularly the Irish Counties War Hospital, responded most generously when applied to for any surplus articles they were disposing of, with the result that they were able to carry on for some months without further purchases. They had since 1918 gained 18 new members. The Committee urged the necessity for each present member to bring in new members each year to fill up the gaps caused by death and other causes.

LADY FINGALL.

Lady Fingall said that it was a great disappointment that the Lord Lieutenant could not be there that day, and she was sure that His Excellency was equally disappointed himself, because she knew how deeply interested he was in hospitals and their work. He would have told them of the benefits and blessings conferred by the nurses and V.A.D.'s on the sick and wounded of his glorious "Contemptibles." They were there that day for a very practical purpose. The report, which had just been read to them, did not really show half or quarter the work that Mrs. Benson had done for the Guild since she took it up. To her it had been a tremendous lesson to know that an hospital must have at least 100 beds if it was to be able to turn out trained registered nurses. They all knew what that must mean. They knew that this Linen Guild was a most important part of the hospital, and that it could not be done without. She thought that it was up to them to see that this good work was continued, and that Mrs. Benson was given all the help and assistance that she required to carry it on. (Applause.)

SIR PLUNKET BARTON.

Sir Plunket Barton, Bart., in proposing the adoption of the report, expressed regret at the retirement of Mrs. Benson from the treasurership; and paid a tribute to the inestimable services that she had rendered to the Guild. The report was a very satisfactory one. It showed that the Guild was filled with energy and initiative. It was a very happy and timely thing to apply to the war hospitals for their surplus linen, and it had enormously relieved the pressure there. He was glad to think that there would not be such a strain this year upon the energies of the society, as in other years, because of the amount of linen that they had received, but he appealed to the Guild to keep up some of these energies in the coming year, for a very excellent purpose, which he thought would give them the opportunity of doing so. That hospital had contemplated holding a fête this year for raising funds for the hospital. That plan, however, had enlarged itself, as Sir Henry MacLaughlin had hopes of organising not merely a fête for that hospital, but for the majority of the hospitals in Dublin, or, at least, those willing to join in it. They would look to the members of that Guild to give them all the support, time, and energy at their disposal to help them in what they intended to be an exceptional and magnificent success. (Applause.) He thanked them for all that they had done in the past. They were grateful for their noble work done during the last year, and they would also be grateful in another sense for favours to come. He knew that they were going to help them in the future, and he earnestly appealed to them to do so. (Applause.)

SIR GABRIEL STOKES.

Sir Gabriel Stokes, in seconding the motion, which was passed, said that the report was in every respect extremely satisfactory. The Linen Guild was an important part of the hospital, but the problem at present was not only the Linen Guild, but the hospital itself. He appealed to everybody to support, as far as possible, medical relief, which was one of the best forms that could be found of relieving the poor. It was not demoralising, as nearly every other form of gratuitous relief to the poor was. He suggested that they should not give money to people in the streets, but to organise and secure money and give it to the hospitals. (Hear, hear.) The real secret of successful aid was to help people who would help themselves. It was no good to help a man who would not help himself. If they helped a man who would help himself they got real progress. That was what medical relief did more than anything else, because it was perfectly certain that no poor man could help himself in the matter of doctoring. The hospitals were going to have a very bad time. All who really wished to see things going on properly must put their hands in their pockets, and use all their energies to support the hospitals. In conclusion, he referred to the good work done with such fine results by the ladies of the Guild, and expressed the hope that the forthcoming fête referred to by Sir Plunket Barton would meet with every success. (Applause.)

Captain Nutting moved that the Committee and officers be constituted for the ensuing year as follows:—Mrs. Cramsie, Mrs. Hume Dudgeon, Lady Nutting, Miss Parsons, Miss Rhode (matron), Mrs. George Stokes, Miss Parsons, hon. treasurer; Mrs. Frank Crawley, hon. secretary. He referred to the fact that Mrs. Arthur Benson was leaving shortly for England, and spoke in high terms of the valuable work performed by that lady as treasurer of the Guild.

Sir Hawtrey Benson seconded the motion, which was passed.

Sir Ralph Benson having taken the second chair, a very hearty vote of thanks was, on the motion of Mr. Henry Dudgeon, seconded by Dr. E. Hastings Tweedy, passed to Lady Fingall for presiding, and the proceedings terminated.

WARWICK CASTLE.

Lord Warwick declares that the published statement that a syndicate has been negotiating for the purchase of Warwick Castle, with the object of turning it into a hotel for American millionaires, is absolutely untrue.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

CHANCES OF A NEW PARTY.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times, writing to-day, says:—It was difficult to see how the Coalition could stand such a shock to its prestige as that which the Lord Chancellor had given it. Here was one of the half-dozen men at the head of the Government, one of the inner ring of Ministers, branding the Coalition as invertebrate, and throwing it on one side like an old glove. The question naturally arose: "Is this the collective view of the Cabinet, or merely the individual opinion of a single Minister?" It was shrewdly suspected that it was something between the two. There has certainly been no Cabinet decision to scrap the Coalition and start afresh with a new party. But even before the recent run of big Labour polls at the by-elections certain Ministers were known to be anxious to exchange the temporary platform of the Coalition for a more permanent structure. Mr. Bonar Law made the running on the Unionist side, and Mr. Churchill on the Liberal. Mr. Churchill has for months been in favour of the formation of a Centre Party, and both he and the Lord Chancellor are patrons of the new members' group, which did some spadework in this direction last session. But so far the Prime Minister has not committed himself publicly to the new orientation, and it remains to be seen whether the Lord Chancellor has got in front of the band. The Prime Minister's inclination all along has been to seek the reunion of the Liberal Party, and not to perpetuate the split, unless the pressure of events proved too much for him.

THE COALITION AND ITS FUTURE.

Political speculation, says The Times, in a leading article to-day, is busy with the future of the Coalition. It has been a stock subject of discussion for some months, but the Labour by-election polls in the last month have given it an urgency which was lacking before. One of the most powerful members of the Government publicly consigns the Coalition, which is the sole support of him and his colleagues, to the scrap-heap, and conjures up a new party in its place. But where is the Lord Chancellor's National Party? Who are to be its leaders? What is to be its programme? Nobody knows, but every thoughtful observer realises full well that the English Constitution cannot be worked by feats of legerdemain. New parties do not spring up like mushrooms in the night. They are organisms of slow growth, which need traditions and experience before the nation will entrust them with the reins of Government. If the Lord Chancellor is speaking any language but that of sheer desperation, he can be contemplating nothing but the Coalition under another name, and with a unitary organisation which may for a time pull its loose ends together. Can it be that he is merely clothing the skeleton of "fusion," which Mr. Bonar Law has cautiously exposed to the view of more than one audience in the country? That would be no new party; it would be the old Coalition writ large. In any event a new party would have a short life if it did not offer to the country a definite body of principles, fresh ideas—in short, a new programme which could be accepted as adequate to the pressing needs of these difficult times. The Lord Chancellor seems to have quite another conception of the functions of his crypto-Coalition. He avowedly presents it as an instrument for fighting Labour. But the Labour Party is not to be kept permanently out of office by a purely negative policy. It is not enough that its arguments should be refuted and its fallacies exposed. Its influence will not cease to grow until the nation has been shown by works that others can build a fairer structure on surer foundations.

ADVANTAGES OF TWO LEGISLATURES.

Lord Meath, in a letter to The Times to-day, writes:—A single Irish Legislature, including Ulster, would be overwhelmingly hostile in its attitude towards England, notwithstanding the presence of Ulster representatives. A strong organised Government in the North of Ireland friendly towards England and the loyalists of the South would prove to the world that there existed in Ireland two opinions, and by influencing the public opinion inside and outside of Ireland would prove a far more effective means of protection against oppressive legislation in the South than the presence in a single Legislature of a few loyal men, whose votes would be swamped by an overwhelming majority. Looked at from the point of view of the Irish Nationalists, it is not in their interest to transfer to their own side the sore which they now keep open in the side of England, for there can be no doubt that, if Ulster were forcibly united to the South in a single Parliament, the Northerners would make legislation in Ireland as difficult and as impossible as the Nationalists now attempt to do in England. I believe, he concludes, that the proposals of His Majesty's Government are worthy of the support of all Southern Irish Imperialists, even though their material interests may, perhaps, in some degree suffer through the accident of residence. As an Irishman who loves Ireland, and ardently desires her welfare, I prefer to trust to the sense of justice and of generosity of my country-people in the South, rather than to run the risk of perpetual, embittered Parliamentary conflict between Northerners and Southerners in a single Legislature in Dublin.

LIVERPOOL MURDER CASE.

The Liverpool Coroner's jury yesterday found a verdict of wilful murder against some person unknown, in the case of the woman Elizabeth McDermott, whose naked body was found in an alley close to the Town Hall on Christmas morning. They added that they had heard no evidence against John Brien, a seaman, who was detained on suspicion. Evidence was given that on Christmas morning a big Irishman, between 50 and 60 years of age, entered Lime street Station, Liverpool, with blood-stained clothing and wounds on his head and face, and told a story of having been attacked and robbed in a Sheffield public-house, and of having then taken a fancy to go to Liverpool. Witnesses swore that he was not Brien, and declared that they did not see him come by the train.

SOLDIERS ATTACKED IN CLONMEL.

ALLEGED INSULT TO PRIEST.

On Saturday Rev. Father Gannon, O.F.M., Prior of the Franciscan Church, Clonmel, was at the Clonmel Railway Station on a sick call when, it is stated, he was insulted by a soldier a member of an association football team from Cahir, on their way to play a match. The affair caused intense indignation in the town. In the evening the team returned to Clonmel and while waiting for the Waterford train proceeded down town. In the suburbs they were met by a number of young men, and some of them were very roughly handled. Most of them had to remain at the military barracks that night. Two of the team escaped and got home. The team left Clonmel for home on Sunday morning in a military motor lorry.

SHOOTING MISHAP IN GOREY.

A regrettable shooting affair took place Gorey on Sunday morning. It appears tha boy named William Duncan, aged about years, son of John Duncan, contractor, Geo street, Gorey, and who stole out to a party his comrades about 11.30 on Saturday nig left for his home about six o'clock on Sun morning. In order to get to his bedroom w out his parents knowing it, he climbed galvanised sheds at the rear for the purpo getting in by the window, but his father, h ing the noise, and thinking that an attack being made on the premises, as some emp are at present on strike, procured his gun, fired in the direction of the object which getting in through the window. Dr. Nolans was at summoned, and on examination it was fo that the back of the left leg was badly tered, and that some grains had lodged in region of the knee.

AFTER THE PEACE.

GERMAN PRESS DISAPPOINTED.

THE DANES AND SLESWIG.

A Berlin telegram, dated Saturday, says:—In their proclamation to the German inhabitants of territories which are being separated from Germany, the Imperial Government point out that "just so far as negotiations were possible, it was our principal care to preserve to you, despite the separation, your vital national rights."

The Lokalanzeiger heads a special supplement regarding the coming into force of the Peace Treaty: "Under the Peace Yoke."

The Freiheit laments the impracticability of the peace, and sets its hopes on the British workers.

Vorwaerts writes:—"Courage for the peace."

The Taegliche Rundschau sets up as its aim the removal of this work of peace.

The Deutsche Zeitung talks about Germany's hardest days.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung discusses the limitation of German Sovereignty.

The ratification of the Treaty has not created any spirit of rejoicing, says the Berlin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. On the contrary, a marked feeling of depression was noticeable on all hands.

Herr Theodore Wolff, in the Tageblatt, writes that it will be Germany's duty to use all peaceful means possible in order to obtain an alteration in the terms of the Treaty.

Some strong comments are made in the Pan-German papers.

THE GERMAN CRUISERS.

According to a Kiel report to the Freiheit, says Reuter's Copenhagen Correspondent, a high German officer has informed the Right Socialist Party leaders that plans are being entertained in naval officers' circles to scuttle the cruisers thath have yet to be surrendered to the Entente.

REUNION OF DANES.

THE KING OF DENMARK'S MESSAGE.

Telegraphing from Copenhagen on Monday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—The King of Denmark has sent telegrams to King George, President Poincaré, President Wilson, the King of Italy, and the Emperor of Japan, congratulating them on the restoration of peace, and expressing the deep gratitude of the Danish nation in connection with the early reunion of the Danes of Sleswig with Denmark.

To King George, he said:—"Joy, mingled with the warmest gratitude, was in the heart of every Dane towards the Powers, who, after such costly and painful sacrifices, had been able to find an opportunity of bringing about a happy solution of Denmark's national question. Great rejoicing has followed the signing of the Peace Treaty."

INTER-ALLIED RHINELAND COMMISSION.

The King has appointed Sir Harold Stuart British High Commissioner on the Inter-Allied Rhineland Commission, which, with the ratification of the Peace Treaty, becomes the supreme representative of the Allied Governments in occupied Germany.

DIPLOMATIC APPOINTMENTS.

Lord Kilmarnock, who has been appointed British representative at Berlin, left London yesterday morning for Ostend. It is understood that he is not going direct to Berlin, but will make a stay on the Continent en route. Lord Kilmarnock is the first British diplomatic representative to proceed to an enemy capital since the war. A diplomatic representative will proceed to Austria later.

The date of the arrival in England of the German representative has not yet been officially notified.

It is learned authoritatively that Austria will not be represented in London by an Ambassador in the near future, but only by a Minister.

MR. BRYAN AND THE TREATY.

In a message dated Sunday, Reuter's Lincoln, Nebraska, Correspondent says:—Mr. Bryan yesterday sent a number of telegrams to Senators urging them to unite in the endeavour to ratify the Treaty not later than January 16th.

AMERICA AND EUROPEAN LOANS.

The American Economic Association considers, says a Washington telegram, that America must lend Europe money, if for purely selfish reasons only. A further advance by the Government is opposed, but it is declared that private sources can be used. Any loan, however, should be devoted to industrial purposes.

MR. O'GRADY'S MISSION.

An Exchange message states that Mr. O'Grady, who is negotiating with M. Litvinoff, is not expected back in London for three weeks or a month. In the meantime medical supplies are being sent to the British prisoners in Russia.

LORD MILNER'S MISSION.

BOYCOTT AT AN END.

An Alexandria telegram, dated January 7, states that the Wadi en Nil publishes an interview with Abdul Pasha Sarwat and Adly Pasha Yecton. The former stated that, in view of Lord Milner's communiqué, pourparlers were possible with the Mission without the abandonment of Nationalist claims. Adly Pasha concurred. This declaration indicates that the boycott of the Mission has terminated.

ULSTER FARMERS' UNION.

PORK AND FLAX PRICES.

PRODUCE COMPANY TO BE FORMED.

At a meeting of the Council of the Ulster Farmers' Union, the Executive Committee reported that an extensive campaign had been carried out since the last meeting, and 120 meetings had been held and specially addressed. It had been practically impossible to keep pace with the demand to hold meetings. The good work done by the Union in obtaining higher prices of flax and pork and an open market for potatoes had borne excellent fruit, as everywhere farmers were beginning to recognise that they were a practical organisation bringing immense benefit to all farmers. That the work of the Union might be carried out more efficiently a new secretary, Mr. Thomas M'Dowell, had been appointed, with offices at 5 Royal avenue, Belfast.

A resolution was adopted authorising the Executive to approach the Food Controller with a view to his coming to an agreement with the curers whereby the price of bacon may be brought back to its original level.

A discussion took place in regard to flax prices, and a resolution was passed demanding an open market, no control, no licensed buyers, and a minimum price for the 1920 flax crop.

Mr. D. P. Martin (Armagh) was appointed chief organising secretary of the Union.

Resolutions were also passed protesting against the Summer-Time Act, and also against the increase of 60 per cent. in Irish railway freights for the carriage of live stock, strongly urging the Government to legislate for the completion of land purchase in Ireland, and impressing upon the Department of Agriculture the necessity of compensating farmers in the Mourne and Killowen districts for at least 50 per cent. of the loss in the potato crop of 1919 owing to the farmers being compelled to grow unproductive varieties.

The Chairman stated that a small committee had been considering the formation of a company to deal with their farm produce, as they believed that this was the only effectual way in which to break the "ring" which they all knew existed in Belfast. Arrangements were being pushed forward with all speed, and he hoped that the farmers throughout Ulster would give their consistent and hearty support to the company, as it would be entirely and specially directed to serve their interests.

It was unanimously resolved that the Council grant the Executive Committee full power to proceed with the scheme.

TELEGRAPHIC DELAY.

Owing to great telegraphic delay, caused by the storm that prevails throughout England and Ireland, we are obliged to go to press without a number of our usual news features. Among these are the greater part of our commercial service and our foreign news.

RUSSIAN SITUATION

REVOLUTIONARIES OCCUPY IRKUTSK.

KOLTCHAK'S ARMY DISPERSED.

The Times Correspondent at Harbin (Manchuria), writing on January 9, reported that the Japanese Military Intelligence Department state that Irkutsk is wholly occupied by special Revolutionaries, and that Admiral Koltchak's Army had entirely dispersed. The Japanese civilians have been evacuated from Irkutsk. News from other trustworthy sources seems to show that the Czech and the Japanese forces have a mutual understanding. All civilian foreigners from the West are going East in three trains, which were timed to pass Verkhne Udinsk (east of Lake Baikal) to-day. The British and other diplomatic Missions were due at Chita (still further East) yesterday. General Semenoff has fifteen armoured trains, running up and down the railway, interfering with traffic, and terrorising the workmen. It is officially stated that all American troops have been ordered to evacuate Siberia by March 1. Inflammatory Bolshevist propaganda in the Chinese language is circulating here. Chinese reports state that the Governor of Sin-Kiang has received an application from a party of British and French officers from Siberia to enter his territory. Possibly this party includes some of the British officers reported to be cut off.

A Press Association telegram, dated Peking, January 4 (delayed) states:—All telegraphic communication west of Chita is interrupted, and there has been no trustworthy information from Irkutsk for over a week. In Trans-baikal General Semenoff is enrolling German and Austrian prisoners. A large Bolshevist band is occupying Selongue, between Verkhne Udinsk and Kinchta (on the Mongolian frontier), and a Japanese outpost of thirty men has been cut off at the latter place.

According to an official telegram from Siberia the Social Revolutionaries hold Irkutsk. General Semenoff's troops captured the station, but were driven out, leaving 170 dead. Fighting is also reported at Verkhne Udinsk, where General Semenoff's troops temporarily gained the upper hand. The Allied Commissions have reached Missovaja, on Lake Baikal. Other foreigners attempted to leave Irkutsk on January 2nd, but were prevented by lack of locomotives. They are now under the protection of the Japanese troops. Japanese reinforcements are being sent from China.

GENERAL MANNERHEIM'S POSSIBLE COMMAND.

Telegraphing on Saturday, The Times Copenhagen Correspondent says:—According to a Press telegram from Helsingfors, it is expected that General Mannerheim will be designated Commander-in-Chief of the united forces of the Baltic National and Finland forces to assume the offensive against Bolshevism. General Mannerheim, who is expected back in Finland from Paris, has, it is added, obtained a promise of both military and financial assistance in organising the contemplated offensive against the Bolshevists on a front which is eventually to extend from Murmansk to the Black Sea. However optimistic these anticipations may appear, they are believed in by the General's numerous partisans in Finland, who look upon him as the man best suited for such an undertaking. It is doubtful, however, whether those in power in Finland are equally sanguine as to the realisation of such a design, or equally desirous to see General Mannerheim undertake it with a foreign force.

REPORTED ARREST OF KOLTCHAK.

An Exchange telegram says that so far the Foreign Office has not received confirmation of the reported arrest of Admiral Koltchak, but it is learned that there is every probability that General Denikin's forces will have to evacuate Odessa.

POSITION IN SYRIA.

SERIOUS FIGHTING REPORTED.

A Times telegram, dated Cairo, January 6, says:—Very conflicting accounts reach here about the situation in Syria. Returning travellers say that within the French screen the Baalbeck region is all quiet, but without there is considerable unrest. These informants confirm the report that the French occupation of Baalbeck was due to the treatment of the liaison officer, whom the French sent by agreement. They did not intend originally to occupy the place, and do not propose to extend their occupation further.

An Exchange message says—The latest news from Syria shows that the situation is exceedingly grave. There has been serious fighting between the French and the Syrian volunteers at Margyun, where the casualties on both sides were heavy, and at Tallkalakh, where the French are reported to have suffered heavily. There has also been fighting at other places.

THE SANDHILLS MYSTERY.

INQUEST AGAIN ADJOURNED.

The inquest concerning the death of Mrs. Kathleen Breaks, the young Bradford woman who was found lying dead among the sand-hills on the seashore between St. Anne's and Blackpool on the morning of Christmas Eve, was resumed at Lytham yesterday.

Before the inquest Frederick Bothwell Holt, aged 31, who had been arrested in connection with the matter, was charged on remand with causing the death of Mrs. Breaks.

The proceedings were purely formal, and the accused man was again remanded, on the application of the Public Prosecutor, until to-morrow at 2 o'clock, when a further remand will be asked for until the following Tuesday.

The inquest proceedings may not be finished until to-morrow, as the police propose to call nearly forty witnesses.

Evidence of the finding of the body was given by George Edward Gillett, who informed the police that he had discovered the body of the woman lying in a dingle in the sand-hills. The same day his brother handed him a left-hand glove, which was stained, and he took it to a police constable.

Police Constable Dixon described how the body was lying, and said that near to it were some papers, which had been apparently thrown away. The woman's clothing appeared to be disarranged. The papers taken possession of by the constable were a letter headed Holcolm and signed "Eric," another dated December 23 and signed "Tun," and another addressed to "Dear Tim" and signed "Elsie." There was also a receipt for a postal packed to S. B. Holt.

The inquest was adjourned.

WARDER'S DEATH IN BORSTAL INSTITUTION.

TWO YOUTHS CHARGED WITH MURDER.

The Rochester Bench yesterday committed for trial at the next Kent Assizes Frederick James Cullendar, alias Smith, and William Ernest Scutt, the two Borstal youths, on a charge of murdering Edward James Adams, a warder, at the institution.

Walter Cotton, an inmate, spoke to seeing Smith and another, whom he believed was Scutt, pass his cell door on the evening of January 2nd, after he had heard a bang and a rattle of keys.

Mr. J. W. Ahearne, Deputy-Governor at Borstal, said that Smith was awaiting an inquiry for smashing up the institution property. It was unusual to allow an inmate out of the punishment cell, and Adams must have acted on his own responsibility.

Evidence of the arrest of Smith in the vicinity of Burnham Old Church was given by Police Constable Hubbard. Smith was hiding behind a cart, and he caught him after a hundred yards' chase. Smith cried: "For God's sake, let me go. I have a father and mother starving, and my mother is dying." Smith, who admitted his identity, had a knife protruding from his pocket.

Police Sergeant Emptage, who in response to a whistle found Smith detained by Constable Hubbard, deposed that when he charged Smith the latter replied that his correct name was O'Brien. He came from Londonderry. He and his mate, he added, had planned this for weeks. They were escaping when the whistle blew, and the last he saw of his mate was that he had his hands on the top of the wall. At West Malling Police Station, continued witness, Smith said to Superintendent Ford: "I did not mean to kill him; we only wanted to get away. My mate, who was working with me, and I had planned this for a week."

When prisoners were charged, Smith had nothing to say, and Scutt replied, "Not guilty."

PROPORTIONAL PREFERENCES.

THEIR MEANING AND EFFECT.

HINTS FOR ELECTORS.

(BY A MUNICIPAL REFORMER.)

Among the many problems which next Thursday's Municipal Elections present to the voter, the problem of "preferences" is at once the most important and the most difficult. It presents itself to the minds of Unionists and Municipal Reformers in the form of the definite question—"When I have expressed my preferences as between the candidates whom I am anxious to see elected, should I go further and express later preferences as between candidates whom, upon the whole, I would like to keep out?" The answer is—Yes! Every voter should fully express his choices, both positive and negative. He should number the good candidates in the order of what he believes to be their respective merits, and then go on to say which of the remaining candidates he most desires to exclude. To effect this he must place figures opposite all but the most objectionable names upon his ballot paper.

Let us assume, for the sake of simplicity, that 12 names appear upon the ballot paper for eight vacancies—four Unionists, four Nationalists, and four Republicans. The Unionist voter gives his first four preferences to the Unionist candidates. He is not keen about electing the four Nationalists, but he wants to keep the four Republicans out. To effect this he must put the figures 5, 6, 7 and 8 against the names of the Nationalists. He may safely, if he wishes, put the figures 9 and 10 against the names of two of the Republicans, if he thinks that they are in any way less objectionable than the other two.

As a Unionist, the voter takes no risk whatever, from a party standpoint, in following this advice, for no early preference can possibly be lessened in its effect, or qualified in any way, by any later preference. No preference expressed for a Nationalist can even be considered by the Returning Officer until it has finally and irretrievably failed to benefit one of the Unionist candidates. The rule is absolute. Unionists and Reformers should, therefore, obviously express as many preferences as possible, of every and any kind which they may entertain, upon their ballot papers on Thursday.

LETTER FROM THE ARCHBISHOP OF DUBLIN.

The following letter has been addressed by the Archbishop of Dublin to the clergy of the Archdiocese:—

The Palace, Dublin, January, 1920.

MY DEAR BRETHREN,—The municipal elections will shortly take place. It is the duty of every citizen to use his vote for the welfare of the whole. From all that I have been able to gather, I understand that many voters have, in the past, failed to exercise their power, with the idea that it was not worth their while to take the trouble.

Will you allow me to say that this is a serious mistake, and the time has surely come when it should be clear to everyone that every individual has a great and important duty towards the community of which he is a member?

I would ask you to bring this matter before your people (in whatever way may seem to be the most advisable), and ask them to do their best, so far as may be within their power, to return representatives who will have at heart the well-being of all.—Yours very faithfully,

CHARLES F. DUBLIN.

To the clergy of the Church of Ireland in the Diocese of Dublin, Glendalough, and Kildare.

URBAN DISTRICT ELECTIONS.

The Lord Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Gibson, and Mr. Justice Kenny sat yesterday in King's Bench Court No. 1. A number of applications were in the list in relation to the Urban District Council elections in Nenagh and Boyle. The Court was asked to declare certain nominations valid, the Returning Officers having ruled them out as invalid for various reasons. It was decided to adjourn the applications till Wednesday morning, notice to be served on the respective Returning Officers in the meantime. Mr. Nolan Whelan (instructed by Mr. M. Noyk) appeared for all the applicants. Mr. Healy, K.C. (instructed by Mr. James Brady) appeared for the respondents in the Boyle case.

ENGLISH RAILWAY QUESTION.

SITUATION UNCHANGED.

The delegates of the Railwaymen's Union held a brief sitting yesterday in London. It was announced that there was no change in the situation, and that there was not likely to be any further move until the Government's decision was received. Sir Eric Geddes, Sir Robert Horne, and Mr. Bonar Law were expected in London last night. A meeting of the Cabinet is expected to-day. Every effort will be made to avoid a rupture.

A later telegram says:—The railwaymen's delegate Conference in London yesterday afternoon discussed with the Negotiating Committee the points to be brought forward in the interview with Sir Eric Geddes to-day, and adjourned until this afternoon to receive the result of the negotiations.

Although the Cabinet meeting to-day has been spoken of as the occasion of the determination of the Government's attitude, the actual decision was in all probability taken at the Conference in Paris yesterday of Sir Eric Geddes and Sir Robert Horne with the Prime Minister, Mr. Bonar Law, and Earl Curzon. Sir Eric Geddes and Sir Robert Horne, accompanied by Mr. Bonar Law, will return to London to-day, and will inform the other members of the Cabinet of the result of the deliberations in the French capital. If their colleagues endorse the decision arrived at there, the reply to the railwaymen will be that of the Government as a whole.

Sarah Allen, aged 80, was yesterday burned to death at Long Clawson.

A Peking telegram, dated January 4 (delayed) states:—There has been trouble to-day about pay among the troops in Nankuman Barracks, five miles outside Peking. The police had orders to close all the shops in the Chinese city, but they were allowed to reopen to-night.

DUBLIN ROTARY CLUB.

REV. W. ANDERSON AND THE EDUCATION BILL.

IMPROVED PROSPECTS FOR IRISH TEACHERS.

The weekly lunch meeting of the Dublin Rotary Club was held in Kidd's Restaurant, Grafton street, Dublin, yesterday, when Rev. William Anderson, M.A., Headmaster, Mountjoy School, gave an address on "The Education Bill." The President, Dr. E. M. Fannin, occupied the chair, and there was a good attendance.

The Hon. Secretary, Mr. A. W. McConnell, mentioned that on that day week they hoped to have a talk from a leading business manufacturer who had returned from Germany, on the desirability or practicability of trading with Germany. As to the municipal elections, he had been asked by the candidates to appeal again for canvassers. The Reform Committee were anxious to have help in the way of committee rooms, vehicles on the polling day, and help generally.

Mr. Wallace pointed out that in Pembroke and other areas their candidates were going up distinctly and solely on a political issue. They were described as the official Unionist candidates. In view of the circular sent out that that was a non-political club, it was strange that members put as the first plank of their programme a definite political project, namely, the continuation of the alleged political union between the Irish nation and the English people.

The Chairman declared that that was a matter for a business meeting.

Rev. Mr. Anderson, in the course of his address, said that it was universally admitted that teachers in Irish schools had never been sufficiently remunerated for their services. The changed conditions of life and the increased cost of living, due to the war, had brought into a prominence that could not be ignored the grievances under which teachers had laboured too long. The declared purpose of the Education Bill was to establish a Department of Education in Ireland, charged with the administration of all matters connected with education in Ireland under university standard. The bill was a very comprehensive measure, and it was to be regretted that a full and explicit statement or explanation of it was not given by the Chief Secretary at the first reading. To the absence of such a statement might, perhaps, be ascribed a considerable amount of the criticism which had since appeared in the public Press, and he thought that much of the anxiety which existed as to the effect of the operation of the bill might have been removed by an authoritative statement as to its meaning and application. It was of curious interest to note that, while no opportunity could be found to enable the Chief Secretary to make such a statement in the House of Commons, on a bill that was prepared with so much pains, and had been introduced, and was eagerly expected by a large number of people, yet it was possible for the Prime Minister to find time to make a statement on the Home Rule Bill, which had not been introduced, was not ready for introduction, and which was not wanted by anybody. At first sight it would seem that the Government was not anxious to facilitate the passing of the Education Bill, or, indeed, perhaps of either bill.

OBJECTIONS TO THE BILL.

Having alluded to the great educational organisations to be abolished under the bill, he said that objections to the bill tended to concentrate on the following points. The constitution of the new Department of Education itself; its possible interference with the managerial system; the rate-in-aid of education, and its interference with the existing technical committees. As to the first objection, he thought that it was highly probable that this portion of the Education Bill must be recast before it could hope to command the confidence of the educational interests in the country. Opinion seemed to be divided as to the effect of the Education Bill on the managerial system. It seemed clear that when appointing the Viceregal Committee to inquire into primary education, the Government did not intend to interfere with the managerial system, and that the Committee regarded the system as fundamental to the scheme of primary education. In the Education Bill itself the managerial system was taken for granted, and express provision was made that managers and patrons of national schools should have substantial representation on the Advisory Board of Education and on the local Committees of Education. It seemed to him, at least, that there was little reason for apprehension as to a continuance of the system. It was generally admitted that the system worked remarkably well on the whole, that it suited the conditions of the country, and that it was preferred by at least 90 per cent. of the teachers to any other possible arrangement. The managers need not entertain any feeling of jealousy or suspicion towards the local committees. They would have substantial representation on these committees, and, indeed, it seemed to him that these committees would be the handmaids of the managers, and if properly worked would give valuable assistance in providing new schools and maintaining existing ones.

LOCAL RATE FOR EDUCATION.

The speaker went on to deal with the financial portion of the bill, and on the question of a local rate for education, said that in Great Britain the principle was universally accepted, and it did not seem unreasonable that a similar rate should be levied in this country also. It would be a great pity that the Education Bill, which contained much promise for Irish education, should be imperilled or delayed by opinions on half-solved problems, or by objections to a principle which was considered just and equitable across the Channel. An Irish Education Bill was long overdue, although the education given in Irish schools, primary, secondary, and technical, would stand in favourable comparison with the standards attained in any country; yet it was universally admitted that the machinery of the system was defective, and very far behind that available in Great Britain.

A BENEFIT TO TEACHERS.

The teachers looked to the bill as a new charter of life and hope. Indeed, the chief aim of the bill was to improve the position and prospects of teachers in Irish schools. If adopted, it would bring enormous advantages to teachers. Its proposals, however, did not exceed the demands of the bare justice of the situation. The scale of salaries for the future proposed under the bill might have been adopted in pre-war time without incurring any risk of the charge of excessive generosity towards the teachers. Inadequate as the provisions of the bill might be, it represented a great advance on the past, and as such was enthusiastically welcomed by Irish teachers. If it became law, some of the teachers' grievances would be redressed. It was a measure of bare justice, and it behoved all men who had an interest in the country, and a desire for its welfare, to work together that the bill in its present form, or in an improved form, might find its way to the Statute Book. (Applause.)

On the suggestion of the Chairman, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Anderson for his address.

INDIAN PROSPERITY.

BRITISH TRADE PROSPECTS.

A telegram dated Bombay, January 8th, says: India is at present enjoying a period of extraordinary prosperity, such as it has not known since the cotton mania of the sixties. The harvest is abundant, and the surplus produce is moving freely at high prices. The balance of trade in favour of India is approximately £8,000,000 monthly. The staple industries are flourishing exceedingly. The best cotton mills are reported to be making from three to four hundred per cent. profit annually, and first-class mill scrip is quoted at eight to ten times the par value. Money is plentiful, and new flotations are announced almost daily. While some "wild-cat" projects are advanced, most of the new flotations have a genuine industrial basis. The demand for manufactured goods is unprecedented, and the opportunities for British manufacturers are unique if they will produce the goods. But with the paucity of British arrivals large orders are going abroad. Bombay is packed with American motor cars, while British vehicles are coming in singly. British manufacturers will have a tremendous uphill fight to recover any of the ground now lost in this splendid market.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, DUBLIN.

THE NEW GOVERNING BODY.

At an election meeting of the Academic Council of the University College, Dublin, held yesterday, the President, Dr. Coffey, presiding, the following Professors were elected members of the new Governing Body, which will come into office on February 1st next:—Professor Mary Hayden, M.A.; Professor John A. McClelland, M.A., D.Sc., F.R.S.; Professor Edward P. McLoughlin, B.A., M.B., B.Ch., B.A.O.; Professor Henry C. McWeeney, M.A.; Professor William Magennis, M.A.; Professor Patrick Semple, M.A.

STORM AND FLOODS.

TELEGRAPHIC DELAYS.

DAMAGE IN THE PROVINCES.

The violent weather continued both ashore and off the Dublin coast yesterday. A gale of wind was blowing, and heavy showers fell at intervals. At the port of Dublin the unloading of large ocean vessels was interfered with, and steamers arriving in the Liffey reported very bad weather in the Channel. In the Bay a Greek vessel and some other craft were reported at anchorage, sheltering from the gale.

The Liffey was greatly swollen and discoloured, and towards its eastern end boasted of waves, which were lashed against the sea walls. The Dodder, the Tolka, and the Poddle and the two canals added extra volume to the flood. Owing to the high tides and the quantities of surface waters on the quays, some of the cellars along the shipping quarters were reported to be flooded. Steamers due in Dublin this morning from across the Channel, and especially those from North-Easterly ports, will experience rough weather on their trips to the Liffey, as the gale continued throughout the night.

Considerable havoc was caused to house property in Belfast by the week-end storm. A chimney was completely dislodged on the Dover street Police Barrack, causing a large hole in the roof, but fortunately no more serious damage was done. Slates and chimney pots were carried off in all parts of the city. Many trees were also blown down.

A thunderstorm passed over the Castlerea district on Sunday night. The wind blew from the South-West, and was accompanied by peals of thunder and flashes of lightning. Stacks of oats and hay were scattered, trees uprooted, and slates were blown off houses in several places.

A thunderstorm broke over Roscommon on Sunday afternoon, and lasted until the early hours of Monday morning. Rain fell in torrents, with the result that the countryside is one vast lake. Some houses were blown down, and cattle were killed by the lightning. Carts going to the pig fair at Castlerea were held up on the roads by fallen trees.

THE SHANNON IN FLOOD.

A fierce gale, accompanied by hail, thunder, and lightning, and rain, swept over the Carrick-on-Shannon district on Sunday. As a result, trees were felled and cattle injured in some places, and the heavy rains greatly swelled the Shannon floods. The main roads on the Roscommon and Leitrim side of Carrick-on-Shannon are flooded.

A fierce South-Westerly gale swept over South Tipperary on Sunday, and continued with increasing violence during the night. There was vivid lightning. Rain fell heavily at intervals. So far there is no account of any serious damage.

Up to Monday evening there had been twenty-four hours' heavy rain in Limerick and the district. The Shannon and its tributaries are flooded, and have temporarily submerged the contiguous low-lying lands in many places. Road traffic in several localities is also affected by floods.

As a result of the week-end gale and heavy rain the low-lying area adjacent to Dublin road, Nenagh, is completely flooded. Many trees have been blown down.

Serious damage, it is reported, was caused along the Donegal coast. Six fishing boats were swamped at John's Point; Fahan Pier was completely destroyed; Swilly River overflowed its banks, inundating the Donegal Railway near Letterkenny, and the tower of Maherafelt's ancient church was blown down.

THE STORM IN GREAT BRITAIN.

TELEGRAPHIC DELAYS.

The postal authorities announce an extremely heavy delay to the Continent, consequent on the storm.

The postal telegraph authorities also give notice of a delay to Ireland, due to the effect of the gale.

Portion of the railway embankment on the Lancashire and Yorkshire line between Middleton Junction and Middleton has slipped to the extent of ten feet, and all traffic on the line will be suspended for three or four days. An overflow from a culvert under the embankment during the recent heavy rains washed away the rails.

DUBLIN COAL SUPPLIES.

PROSPECTS OF IMPROVED DELIVERIES.

The increase of 3s. 6d. a ton allowed by the Coal Prices Committee of Dublin Corporation to Dublin coal merchants came into force yesterday, and best quality coal now costs 57s. a ton, second quality coal costs 56s. a ton, and standard coal costs 53s. a ton.

Merchants, it is understood, will supply coal from the stocks now in their yards until they are exhausted, but there are little prospects of deliveries being made for about a week, and early deliveries cannot be guaranteed.

It was reported yesterday that the steps taken by the Coal Controller would minimise the danger of an exhaustion of supplies.

According to Mr. Buckley, Assistant Coal Controller, it is anticipated that the position will improve. Shipments had improved on Saturday, and five cargoes arrived for Dublin merchants yesterday. Vessels which had been delayed by the storm were expected. The shortage of shipping was responsible for the small stocks, and the difficulty in the way of getting a sufficient number of railway waggons to convey coal from the pits to the ports, as well as the abnormal demands by consumers, was a contributory cause of the scarcity.

Mr. Buckley added that the Coal Control authorities had informed the merchants that, if they could not get coal, they were to give them the names of the collieries refusing supplies, and they would get coal for them. The Controller had given instructions that arrangements must be made to maintain the Irish supply.

DEMONSTRATION BY DUBLIN VENDORS.

Quite an imposing array of empty coal vehicles of the description used by "bell" men was drawn up in D'Olier street, Dublin, yesterday evening, this thoroughfare having several offices of coal-importing firms. The drivers of the vehicles concerned in the demonstration stated that, although there was a certain amount of coal available in the yards, their demands for supplies had not been met, and hence their display of empty vehicles.

SUPPLIES AT THE PORT.

Several steam colliers arrived with cargoes at the port, but the weather conditions at sea were far from favourable for many such vessels putting in an appearance at the Liffey either yesterday or this morning. It is stated that an enterprising Dublin coal-importing firm has acquired quite a new fleet of steamers to follow their first venture, the s.s. Dinorwic, in the carrying of fuel from across-Channel to the Liffey, and, granting that freights are ready for shipment on the British side of the Channel, a considerable increase in arrivals here should take place ere long. About 13,300 tons were the total landings at Dublin port during last week, and of the gross amount a considerable quantity went straight onwards by railway to other places for delivery.

THE SHORTAGE IN ENGLAND.

Writing to Mr. Penry Williams, senior member for Middlesborough, on the coal shortage, Sir Auckland Geddes says:—"No efforts are being spared to maintain supplies. The acute shortage has now been relieved, and the collieries have received instructions as to future deliveries." He attributed the temporary shortage to the cancellation of orders by consumers, and afterwards by suppliers.

LECTURES IN MODERN GEOGRAPHY.

Another lecture of the series of lectures in Modern Geography was delivered in Mills' Hall, Merrion row, Dublin, last evening, in the presence of a large audience by Mr. E. C. R. Armstrong, F.S.A., M.R.I.A., Curator of Irish Antiquities, National Museum. The title of the lecture was "The Early Stone Age and the Spread of Man in Europe." The lecturer, whose address was followed with keen interest, divided his subject into three parts, the first of which dealt with the various Stone Age cultures of the palæolithic period, the second portion dealing with the physical characteristics of the races of men inhabiting Europe at that time, while his third portion described the art of the period. Several coloured lantern slides were shown depicting Altamira in Spain and the rock shelters of Calapata and Cogul, showing human figures, some carrying the bow. Professor McAllister presided.

AMERICAN TROOPS TO LEAVE SIBERIA.

A Reuter's telegram from New York on Monday says:—The Associated Press Correspondent at Washington states that all the American troops in Siberia, a total of 8,000, will begin to return home soon after the middle of February, leaving to Japan the protection of the Trans-Siberian railway and the loyal Russians in Eastern Siberia. The American Railway Commission will leave first.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

INDIAN FRONTIER SITUATION.

Reuter's Agency is informed that the latest news regarding the situation on the Indian frontier has been received in the following telegram from the Viceroy, dated last Friday:—"The Waziri Lashkar has not left Birmal up to December 5th. The presence of the Lashkar and the renewal of intrigues of the Mullahs from Khost is having an unsettling effect on the Tochi Waziris. Birmal is the part of Afghanistan adjoining Waziristan. Three hundred Wana Waziris and a few Tochi Waziris, with some Nadrans, a tribe just over the Afghanistan border, have joined Fazl Din's Mahsuds. The political officers report the result of the Kham Turam Jirgah as follows. The Mala Khel section of Bahlozain, who probably hold more rifles than all the rest of the Mahsuds put together, are still recalcitrant, and the Shabi Khel section of the Amizai are also recalcitrant. The Manzai section are holding a separate jirgah. The Misdain Khel decided upon peace."

DUBLIN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

MONTHLY MEETING OF COUNCIL.

DIRECT SHIPPING SERVICE WITH FRANCE.

The usual monthly meeting of the Council of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce was held in their Council Chamber, Commercial Buildings, Dame street, Dublin, yesterday, when there were present:—William Wallace, J.P., President, in the chair; John Good, J.P., Vice-President; Richard W. Booth, J.P.; Sir William Fry, D.L., J.P.; William Crowe, W. Lombard Murphy, M.B.; J. C. Percy, J.P.; Ponsonby J. Carton, Edward H. Andrews, D.L.; George N. Jacob, J.P.; James W. Hill, J.P.; the Right Hon. Sir William J. Goulding, Bart., P.C., D.L.; Harry J. Millar, William Hewat, James Shanks, J.P.; John Mooney, C.V.O., D.L.; and Patrick Leonard, J.P.

Votes of condolence were unanimously passed, the members standing, with Mr. Joseph Ward, J.P., on the death of his wife, and with the relatives of the late Mr. James Boydell, J.P., who had been a member of the Chamber for upwards of forty years, and who was for many years a member of the Council.

Apologies for absence were received from the Right Hon. Sir Horace C. Plunkett, P.C., K.C.V.O., D.L.; Robert W. Kennan, and Richard K. Gamble, J.P., Hon. Secretary.

The minutes of the Trade and Commerce Committee meeting, 6th January, 1920, and the House and Finance Committee meetings, 31st December, 1919, 5th of January and 9th of January, 1920, were considered and approved.

STEAMSHIP SERVICE BETWEEN NEW YORK AND IRISH PORTS.

The Council noted that Messrs. Moore and McCormack Company, of 5 Broadway, New York, state that they have hitherto been unable to cater for return cargo from Dublin to New York, owing to the fact that after discharge of American cargo at Irish ports their steamers were engaged in European trade, and they also stated that the vessels hitherto employed on the service were coal burners, but that they were now sending an oil steamer, the ss. Delco, and that they were prepared to accept, and hoped to receive, return cargo on that vessel.

STEAMSHIP SERVICE BETWEEN FRENCH AND IRISH PORTS.

A letter was read from Messrs. Leopold Walford, Transports Ltd., intimating that their steamer the Jolly Kate would be loading at Belfast on or about the 18th inst., and that they were prepared to send this vessel to Dublin to load cargo for Dunkirk, provided sufficient inducement was offered.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The Council passed the draft of the annual report to be submitted to members at the annual general meeting to be held on the 30th inst.

ASSOCIATION OF BRITISH CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

The quarterly meeting of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce will be held in London on the 21st of January, and the Council appointed delegates to attend. It was decided to move and support respectively the following resolutions at the meeting:—

"This Association calls on the Government to bring in a bill to give limited companies votes at local government elections, as, owing to the large number of businesses that are now companies, they are generally the largest ratepayers."

"That this Association calls the attention of the Postmaster-General to the unsatisfactory working of the trunk telephone services between Great Britain and Ireland, both as regards delay and imperfect connections, and urges that arrangements should be made for its early improvement."

HURRIED LEGISLATION.

The Council having adopted a resolution protesting against hurried legislation, and quoting as an example the passage of the Industrial Courts Act, communicated with, amongst other Departments, the Ministry of Labour, and the following reply was received:—

SIR,—I am directed by the Minister of Labour to refer to your letter of the 18th November relating to the resolution on the subject of the Industrial Courts Act, 1919, passed at a meeting of a Special Committee of your Association on the 13th inst. The Minister fully appreciates the undesirability of undue haste in legislation. In this case, however, I might observe that it was essential that the Industrial Courts Bill should be passed before the expiry of the Wages (Temporary Regulation) Acts, 1918-1919, and that but for the railway strike and other causes which delayed certain conferences with representatives of employers' Associations and Trade Unions, which the Minister deemed it necessary to meet before introducing the bill, it would have been possible to have taken the first reading considerably earlier.—I am, sir, your obedient servant, (Sgd.) H. J. W.

CONGRESS OF BRITISH CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

The Council noted that the ninth Congress of British Chambers of Commerce will be held at Toronto, Canada, on the 7th September next.

MUSICIAN'S SUICIDE IN BELFAST.

AN EXTRAORDINARY LETTER.

"DEAR PERCY,—At last I have done it. I could not possibly hold out any longer. I don't see anything worth living for in this rotten world. Poor Con and John will be terribly upset, but I hope they will soon get over it. Keep your mind on one Perce when I am gone, and I'll tell you a few winners through the Quzec Board. Ha! ha! This is all an awful joke on you. I have written to the conductor of your orchestra, asking someone to send my things to you, and mentioned your watch and the pen. I will say a good-bye to Lily and John and Gert and you three, also to Mr. and Mrs. Isaacs. You remember the last time I sent you all that money. Well, I had made up my mind to do the job then, but I did not want to spoil your Xmas. So long, kid! Hope you win the Golden Ballot; and you won't need to share it with me.—TED."

This was the extraordinary letter found on George Radcliffe, a young musician, stated to be a native of Hastings, who was found unconscious in his lodgings at 36 Little May street, Belfast, on the 7th inst., with gas tube in his mouth.

The letter was addressed to Percy Dobbs, 11 Stockwell Grove, Stockwell, London, S.W. 9, to whom the police communicated. They received the following reply:—"George Radcliffe; no relatives; unable to come.—Dobbs."

At an inquest in the Royal Victoria Hospital yesterday, before Dr. James Graham (Belfast City Coroner) and a jury, evidence was given to the effect that the deceased man came as a substitute for a musician in the Imperial Picture Palace orchestra, and was much esteemed by his companions. He lodged at 36 Little May street, and was described by his landlady, Mrs. Corry, as a very nice gentleman. When he failed to come down stairs on the 7th inst. she knocked at his door, and, smelling gas, raised the alarm. He was found sitting on a chair with a piece of tube in his mouth connected with the jet. Though promptly removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital, he never recovered consciousness, but expired on the 10th inst. Dr. Camac stated that death was due to the effects of gas poisoning.

Mr. Mortimer, the conductor of the orchestra, to whom the deceased man had also addressed a letter enclosing £1 for the purpose indicated, intimated that the members of the orchestra would like to give him a decent burial.

The Coroner said that this was very kind of the musicians, who were authorised to take charge of the deceased man's instrument, a French horn, and sell it, if necessary, in order to help to meet the expenses.

Head Constable Armstrong said that a letter had been received that morning addressed to the deceased man, and apparently from a sister. They had communicated with her, but had not yet received any reply.

A verdict of death from gas poisoning, self-administered, was returned.

CAN LABOUR GOVERN?

THE PROBLEM IN IRELAND.

LEADING CITIZENS' VIEWS.

(BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The continued successes of the Labour Party, culminating in the Spen Valley victory and an exchange of amenities between Mr. Winston Churchill and Mr. Clynes, M.P., have brought into immediate prominence a question with which, under any circumstances, the electorate would sooner or later have found themselves face to face. The British voter clearly intends to have a change in the near future of political control. If, as seems to be the case, the existing political parties outside Labour cannot offer it, if even the new Centre Party or National Party, or whatever it is to be called, proves to be disappointing, then the people will turn to Labour for their salvation—but only if, in their opinion, Labour can govern. That is the point upon which the public must sift the evidence, clarify its ideas, and form its conclusions.

Whether the issue is to be raised in six months' time or in six years, the sooner men and women begin to canvass it and the more time and care are given to its elucidation, the better. With the idea of providing some sort of fabric into which the layman can commence to weave the thread of his own ideas, I have approached a number of Dublin men prominent in business or politics, in every case putting to them the general question: "Can Labour govern?" I have left it to them to interpret the question in their own way, and make such answer as seemed good to them. It will be seen that the replies given vary greatly, but all are interesting, and not the less so because in almost every case the views expressed were unpremeditated. That in every case an answer was given involves an appreciation of the courtesy and courage of the gentlemen questioned, but no less of their right to form other conclusions as the result of wider investigation and maturer thought.

MR. GEORGE RUSSELL.

My first victim was Mr. George Russell, well known not only as a man of letters, but for his able work in connection with agricultural organisation. Declaring that he was no politician, Mr. Russell approached the subject from a philosophical angle. No one class, he pointed out, can claim a monopoly of ability or political sagacity. A Labour Administration would in the initial stages be hampered by want of experience. On the other hand, it would bring to its task a sincerity of purpose unwarped by the shifts and intrigue that sooner or later eat into the fibre of maturer politicians. The fact that its members, being drawn from the working classes, would have come more closely in touch with the stern realities of life than the statesmen of other parties would also be in their favour. Mr. Russell added that among co-operators he had been surprised at the sound common-sense and breadth of view brought to bear upon their practical affairs by men of virtually no education and experience; and he saw no reason why Labour should not provide men equally capable of handling the affairs of the nation. In his view, however, the advent of a Labour Government at Westminster was not as imminent as some supposed, the people still retaining their old-time veneration for the "upper classes." In Ireland, where Labour is, comparatively speaking, a small minority, the possibility of its coming into power politically seemed to him even more remote. One thing that Labour could do, Mr. Russell explained, which the other parties cannot or will not do, would be to settle the question of our relations with the Bolshevist Government in Russia on a basis which would allow of the resumption of much-needed trade with that country.

SIR MAURICE DOCKRELL.

Sir Maurice Dockrell, M.P., told me that he had given no thought to the question at all, having so many more practical matters on hand that engaged his political attention. He had not formed a very high opinion of the capacity for statesmanship of the Labour members now in Parliament, many of whom are able men, but all of whom look at political questions from a narrow view-point—that, namely, of Labour as the antagonist of the rest of the community. This, however, might be the result of the attitude towards the Coalition forced on the Parliamentary Labour Party by their masters, the Labour organisations.

I found my next victim, one of the foremost men in the motor trade in Dublin, immersed in what the editorial writers call inspissated gloom. This was due to the fact that it was Friday—Mr. Thompson was about to lunch. "Can Labour govern?" I asked him, without pausing to explain my fell purpose. "I do not know if they can," he replied sombrely; "but they do. They allow Sir Eric Geddes and myself to draw the salaries, but they manage our businesses. Politicians are like temperance drinks. They occupy relative degrees of offensiveness. There are no nice ones." With this epigrammatic utterance my friend plunged heavily into his soup, refusing stolidly to emerge therefrom into further publicity.

SIR ROBERT WOODS.

Sir Robert Woods, M.P., said that the question could not be answered intelligently without first defining what we meant by "Labour." Mr. J. H. Thomas had magnanimously conceded that Labour included brain-workers. On this basis Labour, which includes many professional men and scholars of the highest ability, certainly can govern. On the other hand, if the question really means, not can educated and intellectual men chosen by Labour to represent its interests govern, but can men actually typical of, or acting merely as the mouth-pieces of, the rank and file of trade union labour govern, the answer must be that they certainly cannot govern successfully, and probably will never have an opportunity of attempting to do so.

Mr. Frederick J. Leitch, who is bringing Ulster business brains to bear on the problem of developing the flax industry in the South of Ireland, naturally took a business man's view of the matter. "Labour," he declared, "can no more govern than the office boy or engineer could manage my business. Only the scientific and sympathetic co-operation of Labour and Capital can beget real success in industry, and that is just as true of the State's business as of private business. There is no reason why some or even a majority of the State's business managers should not be recruited from Labour, but the fact of their selection would imply that they no longer represented Labour, in the sense that Labour's interests were their sole concern, but the nation as a whole."

Mr. Fred Hanna, M.P. for East Antrim, whose constituency includes a heavy Labour vote, stated that in his opinion there were among the present Labour members of Parliament several men capable, as a matter of ability, of assuming the responsibilities of office, and who see things from the wider national point of view. But whether the rank and file of Labour would endorse such a point of view is another question.

MR. THOMAS JOHNSON.

Mr. Thomas Johnson, of the Irish Transport Workers' Union, thinks that they would. Naturally, he points out, a Labour Government in Great Britain, if elected, would direct its energies towards the realisation of its own ideals—such, for example, as the nationalisation of vital industries, which ideals, however, he believes, will benefit the nation as a whole, and not merely the working classes. The position, he believes, would then be not unlike that which prevails in Germany at the present moment. A discreet and very moderate Socialism would be in power, whose Right would be scarcely distinguishable from the advanced wing of Liberalism. On the other hand, Mr. Johnson was careful to point out there would always be in England, as there is now in Germany, an Extreme Left of Socialism impatient of the slow constitutional processes available, and with no belief in their ultimate success, and which does not accept the principle of live and let live as between Labour and Capital. With reference to the willingness or otherwise of the rank and file of Labour to follow their Parliamentary representatives a good deal of misconception exists, Mr. Johnson pointed out, the relation between them being entirely different from that which obtains between the workers and their industrial leaders. A Labour Government would be like any other, relying for its support on a majority of the House, and taking orders and advice from no others. Mr. Johnson added that these views bore no reference to Ireland, where conditions different to those obtaining in England prevail, and where the ideals of Labour, as a whole, also differ materially from the generally accepted ideals of British Labour.

CAN LABOUR GOVERN?

My last victim but one is a business man, who, both before and since demobilisation, has represented Government departments in Ireland, and knows much of the works—and the failure to work—of the actual machinery of Government. He was slightly pessimistic. The real governors of the country, he declared, are the permanent Civil Servants, the limpets whom Lord Curzon once referred to as the most inefficient body of men that money can buy. They are the strongest trade union on earth. Messrs. Henderson and Clynes would be as powerless in their red tape tentacles as Mr. Churchill and Mr. Lloyd George are. "I cannot answer the question, 'Can Labour govern?' in so far as it involves questions of policy," Captain P—— added, thoughtfully. "As far as efficiency is concerned, it is inconceivable that Labour could muster to its assistance more wastefulness and incompetence than attends the present régime."

MR. H. G. BURGESS.

My last questionee was Mr. H. G. Burgess, Irish Representative of the Ministry of Transport, and, in the opinion of many, quite the ablest and most tactful Government official in Ireland. "In so far as the question is one of practical politics," he said, "I have never given it a thought. This much, however, I can say—that here in Ireland, as in England, the representatives of Labour with whom I have to do are not merely extremely able, but also thoroughly responsible. We have sometimes differed, but I have yet to meet one who has not played the game or has gone back on his word. If Labour cannot govern, in a word, it will not be because they cannot find men of the ability and integrity that a nation looks for in its statesmen."

DUBLIN EX-SOLDIER'S ACQUITTAL.

Mr. M. Gilmour, Case Secretary of the Comrades of the Great War (Dublin Branch), writes to state that James Collins, Templeogue, an ex-soldier, who was sent for trial by Mr. Cooper on December 15th, on a charge of robbing a postman on the Kimmage road, has been notified by the police authorities that the case will not be proceeded with. Mr. Collins was informed that sufficient evidence was not forthcoming to prove that he was on the Kimmage road on December 13th, the date on which the robbery was committed.

THE MOTOR PERMITS ORDER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—A great outcry is being raised against the Irish Government on account of the recent Motor Permits Order. When, however, it is seen that those who protest most loudly are persons connected with the Sinn Fein organisation, and newspapers sympathetic with its propaganda, the value of the opposition may be discounted. The public know, from the reports published in the newspapers, that in most of the serious crimes which have been committed in the country motor cars have been used to facilitate the criminals, and it was absolutely necessary that measures should be taken to prevent this.

In the Northern counties, and, indeed, in many other parts of Ireland, where Sinn Fein does not hold absolute sway, the Order has been complied with readily, and the use of cars for either trade or private purposes has been in no way interfered with. It is only in Dublin, which is the hotbed of Sinn Fein, that the strike has been able to stop the motor traffic of the city, thereby causing much loss and inconvenience to the citizens. No trade principle whatever is involved, yet members of trade unions are allowing themselves to be induced to lend a hand in paralysing the city's trade at a time when money is badly needed, and when distress is rife. It is they, and not the Government, who must be held responsible for the misery which must result from a continuance of these foolish tactics.—Yours, etc.,

"CITIZEN."

THE KINGSTOWN ELECTIONS.

STORY OF RECENT ADMINISTRATION.

THE MORAL FOR UNIONISTS.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

The Kingstown urban elections will take place on Thursday next, and it is to be hoped that all ratepayers and other electors having interest in the municipality will be up and doing, and, no matter at what inconvenience to themselves, record their votes. Otherwise they are likely to fix on themselves for all time the mismanagement of the past six years, or even a worse state of affairs, so far as they are concerned. To aid them in the matter, it may be well to recall the past history of the township.

In 1902 a Nationalist majority got control of the Urban Council. They found the urban rate at 5s., and when they went out of power in 1905 they had raised the rate to 6s. 8d., had levied and spent over £10,000 extra in the three years by the increase of rates, and left the township several thousand pounds heavier in debt.

In 1905 the majority became Unionist, which character it maintained for nine years. When the Unionist majority got control they devoted themselves, not to politics, but to improving the municipal machinery and bringing it to a high state of efficiency at the least possible expense to the ratepayers. The continuous policy of the Unionist majority of the Council resulted in the removal of insanitary slums; the erection of workmen's dwellings in all the wards of the town; the erection of a destructor for the cremation of refuse; the improvement of the Fire Brigade, which they found practically obsolete; the laying down of water mains at Glenageary; the enlargement and beautifying of parks and promenades, so as to attract visitors to the town; the construction of technical schools and Free Library; the opening of new roads at Dunleary and elsewhere; the provision of playground for young children, so as to keep them out of the danger of the streets; the erection and equipment not only of sea baths, but also of baths and wash-houses and public lavatories, which were much required, and have proved a great boon to the working classes. At the conclusion of their work the urban rate had been reduced from 6s. 8d. to 5s. 11d., and the Council had also wiped out the debt of many thousands of pounds against the township which had been left by their predecessors.

In 1914 the rate was only 5s. 11d., and the balance against revenue account was £93. In 1914 a majority of the then Nationalist Party got control. They secured fifteen out of the twenty-one seats, and have been in power ever since. They had very few to oppose them on the Council, and could have carried on the good work of their predecessors, or improved upon it. In 1915, owing to the payment of interest and sinking fund on a 3 per cent. loan having ceased to be payable, it was in the power of the Council to have reduced the rates by 1s. at least in the £. This the then outgoing Unionist Councillors had pledged themselves to do if returned. The present Council, however, embarked on a system of increases of salaries, wages, bonuses, and on a system of additional expenditure to absorb the £4,200 a year interest and sinking fund above referred to, which had been saved by the foresight of their predecessors. They made wholesale reductions of the very low rents of the municipal property, thus wiping out, in this latter item alone, about £400 a year income by a simple resolution of the Board.

During this period of six years they have launched into extravagant expenditure of various sorts, and, although "a war was on," shaking the foundations of Europe, they proceeded to spend money on wholly unnecessary, and in most cases unsightly, concrete works, at a time when cement was almost unprocurable except at fabulous prices (£25 a ton or thereabouts). Even in the estimates for the current year a sum is provided out of the rates for further concrete works. The roads of the township, which they found in perfect condition, have, under the present management, been reduced to a state which is disgraceful to the district as well as dangerous to traffic. The working staff has been largely increased, and several new offices have been created in the municipal establishment.

The Unionist Council, when going out of office in 1914, left the township in a position to get electric light in a year or so, at no cost to the rates; and, if their scheme had been carried out, the township would now have electric light. Instead of carrying on the work of their predecessors, the present Council practically threw away £6,000 in Parliamentary and other costs and expenses, so that the Council might be able to undertake electric lighting by itself; but nothing appears to have been done further in the six years past. Some ratepayers, in despair, are erecting their separate private supplies, and it is doubtful if it will be now possible for the Council to undertake it at all, except at very considerable expense to the rates.

To-day the urban rate stands at 7s. 9d. and the poor rate at 4s. 5d., making a total of 12s. 2d. in the £. It behoves the ratepayers of the township, therefore, to take this opportunity of putting their house in order before it is too late. To restore the township to its former satisfactory state is hardly possible, but much can be done by a Council in earnest in the way of retrenchment and economy. The 15th inst. is, therefore, the day when every ratepayer should make it his first and principal business of the day to vote.

Under proportional representation every vote tells, and it is a public duty to vote, which no one should shirk. There are about forty candidates up for twenty-one seats, so that the ratepayers have every opportunity of making a wise selection, and it is to be hoped that the result of the poll will show that the electors of Kingstown want the best men they can get who will carry on the work on business lines.

The Unionist candidates are as follows:—

Glasthule—H. C. Falkner, J.P.; A. M. Fleming, N. Ormsby Scott, and R. N. Potterton.

Kingstown, East—C. N. Cook, W. A. Evans, J.P.; Dr. Patrick Merrin, J.P.; and Sir Thomas W. Robinson, J.P.

Kingstown, West—T. Morgan Good, Henry T. B. Robinson, and W. J. Scanlon.

Monkstown—Francis M. Bently.

These candidates have all been approved of by meetings of electors in the districts in which they are going forward, and it is the duty of every Unionist to do his or her utmost to secure their return.

MALICIOUS INJURY AWARDS.

SEQUEL TO SUPPRESSED LIMERICK DEMONSTRATION.

At the Limerick Quarter Sessions yesterday, before Mr. J. Cusack, K.C., Deputy County Court Judge, applications for compensation under the Malicious Injury Act were heard. There were twenty-seven applications from the city, arising principally out of the rioting in the city on the 23rd November, when the Allen, Larkin, and O'Brien demonstration was suppressed by the military authorities. The claims amounted to £1,700, and His Honor awarded £423. From the county there were seventeen claims, involving an aggregate of £3,800, out of which £700 was awarded.

The Limerick Race Company were awarded £340 for malicious destruction to their property on the occasion of the riot at Greenpark on the 2nd October. Constable McHale was allowed £15 out of a claim for £300 for injuries sustained on the same occasion. Head Constable Bourke applied for £800 compensation for injuries received on the 23rd November in connection with the disturbance that occurred in the city arising out of the proclamation of the Manchester Martyrs demonstration. He was awarded £70 and costs. Other claims for various amounts were allowed.

MALICIOUS BURNINGS IN COUNTY LOUTH.

At Dundalk Quarter Sessions yesterday, Peter Murphy, of Mucklagh, Carlingford, was awarded £480 for the burning of a quantity of hay, oats and wheat. Applicant, who is a nonagenarian, and farms 100 acres, had been bailiff and rent warner on the Upton estate for 50 years. Recently he had to evict a girl, and lately there had been trouble about sea wrack.

Thomas Quinn, Slieve, was awarded £251 for the burning of grain and straw. Applicant said that he had prosecuted a man for stealing fowl. Since then the people had been unfriendly to him.

COMPENSATION FOR BURNING OF GRASS LANDS.

At Banbridge Quarter Sessions, Judge Bates, K.C., awarded Mrs. Rose McNally, a widow, residing near Rathfriland, County Down, £15 compensation for the malicious burning of about five acres of grass growing on mountain land, at a place called "The Knock," in the townland of Edenagarry, in the month of August last.

PEACEFUL STATE OF COUNTY TYRONE.

Opening Dungannon Quarter Sessions yesterday, His Honor Judge Linehan, K.C., said that the police returns to Quarter Sessions went to show that there was no trace of exceptional crime in that part of County Tyrone. In view of the happenings elsewhere, that was a matter for sincere congratulation.

THE ATTACK ON MR. SERJEANT SULLIVAN.

DEAN O'LEARY'S STATEMENT.

Addressing the congregation at last Mass, in St. John's Roman Catholic Church, in Tralee, on Sunday, the Very Rev. David O'Leary, P.P., V.G., Dean of Kerry, said that the happy time of Christmas, which was supposed to be a time of peace and good-will, had been twice disturbed there by attacks on houses with firearms. He felt bound to repudiate in the name of the people of Tralee any connection, direct or indirect, with these attacks. It was acknowledged on all hands that their people had nothing whatever to do with these attacks, and had no interest in them. He also wished to preface his remarks by stating that in these attacks there was no question of a political nature involved in the smallest way. They were merely ordinary commercial disputes between the parties concerned. Attacks of this nature were fortunately very rare in that parish, and, though unfortunately they occurred within its borders, no person in the parish was involved in them. Still, the good name of the parish was bound to suffer. He then referred to the attack on two houses in Ballyvelly. Shots were fired into a farmer's house, and then the raiders went to a neighbouring house, where an old woman was living alone, and shots were fired into that house. So far as the facts had been made known, they could not give the smallest warrant, as far as one could judge, for such an attack. The use of firearms in particular was most objectionable. These persons did not enter the houses, and he would give them the benefit of the doubt; they merely wanted to frighten these people; but the use of firearms was always dangerous, especially in unskilled hands. There was no justification whatever for the attacks on these houses, and, for his part, he repudiated and condemned them.

SERJEANT SULLIVAN'S SPEECH.

The other case that he referred to was the attack on Serjeant Sullivan, K.C., at Mr. Slattery's residence at Clounalour. Serjeant Sullivan as an advocate was well known in every city and town in Ireland. Fortunately, by the mercy of God, no blood was shed, and the men were put out of the house. People who attacked houses with revolvers or guns undertook a very serious responsibility. If a person used firearms in attacks on houses, he was intent on murder. In this case also the dispute was a commercial one. Serjeant Sullivan, as an advocate for one side, made a speech which he considered it to be his duty to make, and there was no reason for requiring from him an account for his statement of his case. He (Dean O'Leary), however, felt bound to say that, in his opinion, his language was not restrained enough. In one sentence he went unnecessarily out of his way to insult a clergyman who was respected and loved by his people, and that was the only explanation that he could give for the wanton attack made on him by some young fellows in the course of the evening. They were living in a time of great unrest and great excitement, and it behoved everyone to measure his language, and not to exceed the limit of prudence. Some sentences in Serjeant Sullivan's speech were not calculated to serve any useful purpose, and it was unfortunate that they were made use of, but that did not in any way exculpate the persons who took that extraordinary action. He concluded by repeating his condemnation of these attacks, and repudiating any responsibility for them by the people of Tralee Parish, who had always been on the side of religion, and never associated themselves with, or sympathised with, any acts contrary to the law of God or the law of the Church.

THE ATTACK UPON SIR ALFRED DOBBIN, D.L.

£500 REWARD OFFERED.

The Constabulary are still actively pursuing inquiries into the attempt upon the life of Sir Alfred Dobbin, D.L., Vice-Chairman of the Cork Employers' Federation, and are hopeful of bringing the crime home to the guilty party. The outrage is believed to be due to the industrial unrest in the city, and the Executive Council of the Federation announced yesterday that they will give a reward of £500 for such information as will lead to the conviction of the dastardly assailant.

At a special meeting of the Executive on Saturday, it was resolved—"That the hearty congratulations of the Council of the Employers' Federation be conveyed to Sir Alfred Graham Dobbin, D.L., on his providential escape from the hands of the dastardly assailant who endeavoured to take his life on Thursday, 8th January. On behalf of the Federation the Council condemn in the strongest manner possible this cowardly attempted murder, and the Council hope the guilty person may be speedily brought to justice."

THE ATTACK ON CASTLE-HACKETT BARRACKS.

RAIDERS' PLANS MISCARRY.

EVIDENCE OF FIERCE ONSLAUGHT.

Our Tuam Correspondent writes:—The attack on Castlehackett Police Barracks, near Tuam, on Friday morning, was well planned, and carried out with determination. Half an hour before the attack a car travelled over the road without interruption, and it is believed that upwards of one hundred men must have participated, for huge barricades of stones were found half a mile on either side of the barracks on the road, which would require a large number of men to construct in a short time. It is believed that one of the attackers was wounded, as traces of blood were found on the roadside in front of the barrack. The barrack, which is on Colonel Bernard's demesne, is completely surrounded by trees, and is about twenty yards off the main road from Tuam to Galway, via Headford. There are many indications of a sharp conflict. All the windows were completely shattered, while there were traces of bullet-marks all over the walls. The ceiling in most of the rooms was down, caused by the explosion of the bomb, which shook the whole building. On the northern gable wall there was much damage caused by the bomb explosion. A second bomb, of a crude design, was placed at the back wall, but failed to go off. There was a downpour at the time, and it is surmised that the rain extinguished the fuse. This bomb is about 7lbs. weight, 12 inches long, and composed of portion of a metal pipe, filled lightly with scrap iron and a quantity of gelignite. Had this explosive been effective, it is likely that it would have blown up the whole structure.

Farmers in the locality who heard the firing agree as to the sustained nature of the fight. For an hour the firing was intense, and despatch riders were observed going and coming from the outposts.

As the barrack was heavily sand-bagged, firing from the level of the road, to be effective, was useless. To get over the difficulty some of the attackers climbed trees overlooking the windows, and fired in from an angle, the bullets penetrating the centre of the floor. It was at this stage that Sergeant Higgins was wounded with pellets in the face. Constable Gormally also had a narrow escape. Both men are from Co. Sligo. The remaining four constables, who made up the strength of the barrack, were on another road protecting a broken down police motor. On hearing the firing they ran across the fields to the barrack, about one and a half miles away. They opened fire, and a hot ten minutes ensued between themselves and an outpost, while the main body got away. The firing lasted from 2.10 until 3.20 a.m. Some clips of Service bullets were found about the place. All Service bullets were used, while buckshot was also extracted from the woodwork.

There has been great military and police activity in the district since, numerous houses have been searched without result. The barrack is now closed, and the police are in Tuam, where there was a remarkable display by troops with fixed bayonets on Saturday night.

Sergeant Higgins is progressing favourably.

THE ATTACK ON CARRIG-TWOHILL BARRACKS.

FOURTEEN ARRESTS IN QUEENSTOWN.

Fourteen young men and lads were arrested at their homes in Queenstown urban and rural districts before daybreak yesterday, and charged on suspicion with being concerned in the recent attack on Carrigtwohill Police Barracks.

BURGLARIES IN CORK.

Our Cork Correspondent telegraphs that when the premises of Messrs. O'Callaghan, electrical engineers, Potter's street, Cork, were opened yesterday morning it was found that burglars had stolen about £8, and, in addition, had damaged the stock.

Another burglary took place yesterday morning, when the residence of Mrs. Gallagher, Blarney road, was entered, and about £6 was stolen from a press in the drawingroom.

The increase of crime of this kind in Cork is causing much alarm and uneasiness in all parts of the city

THE PURCHASE OF A MILITARY RIFLE.

CHARGE AGAINST ATHLONE MAN DISMISSED.

At a district courtmartial at Renmore Military Barracks, Galway, yesterday, Thomas Keaveney, pawnbroker's assistant, Athlone, was acquitted on a charge of buying a rifle from Private William Milne, Gordon Highlanders, at Athlone, on November 29th last.

Private Milne stated that, after he had pawned a pair of boots at Kilkelly's, the accused asked if he could get hold of a rifle for him. The witness brought him another soldier's rifle on the same evening, and the accused gave him £2 for it.

The police evidence was that when the premises were searched no rifle was found. The witnesses said that the accused was of good character, and they were not aware that he was identified with any political organisation.

The accused, who pleaded not guilty, and conducted his own defence, denied all knowledge of the rifle.

When discharged he thanked the Court for the fairness of his trial.

HUNGER STRIKER DISAPPEARS.

CORKMAN'S ESCAPE FROM HOSPITAL.

Our Cork Correspondent telegraphed last night as follows:—A sequel to the hunger strike of political prisoners in Cork Male Prison became known this evening. Edward Horgan, who was charged with having raided for arms, was, owing to his weak condition, sent from the prison to the Mercy Hospital on Friday under the charge of prison warders and policemen, and was making good progress towards recovery. It was noticed that he had a large number of visitors, but this did not arouse the suspicions of his jailers, and when Dr. Hurly went to his rooms at eight o'clock to-night Horgan was missed from his bed. Although a thorough search of the hospital was made, no trace of him could be found.

District Inspector M'Donagh arrived with a number of policemen and made a thorough search of the institution and of the district, but did not discover any trace of the hunger-striker.

The affair has created considerable excitement in the district, and up to the time of telegraphing the man has not been found.

THE DUBLIN STRIKES.

CHEMISTS' ASSISTANTS' DISPUTE SETTLED.

The strike of chemists' assistants in Dublin, which had been in progress since early last month, was practically settled at a round table conference held during the week-end. The conference began at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening at the Hibernian Hotel and lasted until 4.30 on Sunday morning. It reassembled at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the office of Mr. R. J. Kidney, secretary to the Federation of Chemists, and continued until 2 o'clock yesterday morning, by which time an agreement was reached. At the conference the employers were represented by Messrs. H. G. Pring (president of the Association), Sir Thomas Robinson (vice-president), R. J. Kidney (secretary), W. F. Wells, W. J. Hardy, J. Woodside, Samuel Bell, and J. Stewart; and the assistants by Messrs. J. E. Payne (organiser), J. W. Kelly (secretary), McCandless, Maguire, Coffey, Donnell, and Carton.

Increases ranging from 10s. a week to 15s. a week have been granted, and the terms of settlement, it is stated, include adjustment regarding re-instatement.

THE MOTOR PERMIT STRIKE.

The strike of motor drivers and mechanics in Dublin as a protest against the Motor Permit Order continued yesterday, the streets again being picketed by bodies of the strikers.

In a number of motor shops in the city yesterday toolmakers, engineers, and other mechanics ceased work in sympathy with the strikers.

At a meeting of the local drivers and members of other Trade Unions in Wicklow addresses were delivered by Messrs. A. H. Burslam and J. Manning, from the headquarters of the Irish Automobile Drivers' and Mechanics' Union, and a resolution passed deciding to fall in line with the decisions of the Union as regarded the Wicklow district.

A public meeting was also held in Enniscorthy, at which a resolution was passed protesting against the Order and calling for its withdrawal.

WICKLOW DRIVERS ON STRIKE.

Within the past ten days the motor mechanics of Wicklow and district broke away from their organisation, and nearly all applied for permits, but at a largely-attended meeting on Sunday Messrs. Manning and Burslem, from the head office, Irish Automobile Drivers' and Mechanics' Union, delivered addresses, insisting that the Union had no alternative but to oppose the Order as it stood. A resolution was subsequently passed pledging support to the strike movement. It was decided to open subscription lists. Yesterday pickets took up positions opposite the three garages in the town, prevailing on motorists to join the strike, and on the public to assist their objects.

ATTITUDE OF COUNTY TIPPERARY DRIVERS.

All the motor car owners and drivers in Borrisokane have applied for and received permits. In Nenagh the drivers have refused to apply for permits, with the result that there is very little motor traffic in the town, and it is impossible to hire a car.

THE VINTNERS' ASSISTANTS' STRIKE.

The strike of assistants in the licensed grocers' and vintners' establishments in Dublin was continued yesterday. Picketing was carried on by the strikers as on previous days, notwithstanding the unfavourable weather.

It was stated at the office of the employers' Association yesterday that things were going on satisfactorily. The view was expressed that the strike would not last another fortnight, but, in any event, the traders were determined to stand out for six months, if necessary. They claimed that they had justice on their side, as was shown by the attitude of the assistants in refusing to agree to a conference or arbitration.

Mr. Hughes, secretary of the assistants' Union, said that his members were still strong in spirit. They had a very large meeting on Sunday, and all expressed the determination to carry on the fight until it was won. Employers were still coming to the Union and agreeing to the demands of the assistants. They were even, he said, receiving cheques to help them on in their fight from those employers who had acceded to the demands of the men.

THREATENED STRIKE OF GAS EMPLOYES.

Notices of their intention to cease work on Saturday have been served on behalf of about 900 employés of the Alliance and Dublin Gas Consumers' Company who are members of the Transport Union. Their demands for improved conditions of labour will be dealt with at a conference to be held to-day at the Ministry of Labour.

GAS WORKERS' WAGES AWARD.

The Industrial Court's award on the claim of the gas workers of the federated undertakings of Great Britain and Ireland, for a wages advance was issued last night. The claim submitted was for a uniform advance, but the Court upheld the contention of the employers, that discrimination should be made between larger and smaller undertakings on account of the financial position of the latter. The award is:—To male workers over 18, five shillings advance where employed in undertakings which made not less than one hundred million cubic feet of gas during the last completed working year; four shillings in undertakings which made over fifty million, and under one hundred million cubic feet; and three shillings in undertakings which made not more than fifty million cubic feet.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE IN ENGLAND.

The Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland is officially informed that two further outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease were confirmed in England on 10th instant—one at Great Waltham, Essex, and the other at Great Worden, Wareham, Dorset.

HILARY LAW SITTINGS.

OPENING OF THE TERM.

Hilary Law Sittings opened yesterday at the Four Courts, Dublin. All the Judges of the High Court were in attendance. They held a meeting in the Benchers' Room before taking their places in their several courts, and arranged as far as possible the order of business. The business of the Sittings will not, judging by present appearances, be very heavy. In the Court of Appeal there are three cases standing for judgment and nineteen for hearing. These cases do not appear to present any outstanding feature of public interest. One of them is the case of Worthington v. the South Riding Tipperary County Council, which is an application for compensation for criminal injury. The case was originally heard by Mr. Justice Kenny, and when it was part heard by the Court of Appeal an important question of law arose, in consequence of which it was decided to let the arguments stand for the full Court.

In the King's Bench Division (Civil Side) there are fifteen cases set down for argument. Several of these are concerned with income and revenue taxes, and come up in the shape of "case stated." There are nine new trial motions, and the verdict of the jury in the case of Connors v. Pearson (alleged detention of an infant by the police), which was tried before Mr. Justice Pim towards the close of the last sittings, will come under review, both sides claiming that the verdict was in their favour. On the Crown Side (King's Bench) there are only three motions on notice set down, and one magistrates' case, from the Bagenalstown Petty Sessions. There will be a fairly large list of cases for trial by jury, and the Master of the Rolls and Mr. Justice Powell will each have work enough to keep them going for the term.

IRISHWOMEN AND THE BAR.

At a meeting of the Society of Benchers of the King's Inns yesterday, Mr. James Andrews, K.C., was appointed a Bencher to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of Mr. A. H. Bates to be County Court Judge of Down. Mr. Serjeant Matheson, on his elevation to the Bench as Recorder of Belfast, vacates his serjeantcy as well as his membership of the Benchers' Society. He was re-elected a Bencher. The meeting also had before it an application from two ladies to be admitted as students of law at the King's Inns, under the provisions of the Sex Disqualification (Removal) Act, which became law a few months ago. It appears that these applicants have been attending courses of lectures on law at one of the Universities, and that they expect to be allowed for these in the course which they are about to take at the King's Inns. The consideration of the question has been adjourned till Monday next. No application has yet been received from women to be admitted as solicitors.

GLASS COMBINATION.

POSITION EXPLAINED BY BRITISH GLASS INDUSTRIES.

We have received the following statement, under date January 10, from Mr. W. Ernest Treweek, Secretary of the British Glass Industries, Limited:—

With reference to the paragraph headed "The Glass Combination," my directors have authorised me to state that in announcing on the previous day that British Glass Industries, Limited, had arranged to acquire a controlling interest in a number of firms, this statement was correct in all cases but one, to which I refer later.

In the paragraph referred to of this date, you state, on the authority of Mr. J. Donaldson Harward, that it is not correct that British Glass Industries have arranged to acquire a controlling interest in E. M. Patents, Limited. Mr. Harward was clearly unaware of the facts, but it is none the less true that all agreements have been signed which will give Webbs Crystal Glass Company the controlling interest in this company, and, as notified in our announcement of the previous day, British Glass Industries have agreed to purchase a large and preponderating interest in Webbs Crystal Glass Company, the company which is being formed as mentioned therein.

With regard to Samuel Pearson (West Bromwich), Limited, the interest which British Glass Industries, Limited, through Webbs Crystal Glass Company, will acquire, is not a controlling one, and should have been described as a substantial interest, but on this point I am asked to say that the whole of the share capital of Samuel Pearson (West Bromwich), Limited, is an extremely small percentage of the whole of the other interests acquired. And in the case of the remaining seven companies, not merely a controlling interest, but the whole of the businesses are being acquired.

THE SELFRIDGE ORGANISATION.

DUBLIN STAFF ENTERTAINED.

The staff of the Dublin branch house of the Selfridge Organisation was entertained at dinner in the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, last night by Mr. Gordon Selfridge. The business of Messrs. Brown, Thomas, and Co., Grafton street, was established seventy years ago, and early in last year became the Dublin branch of Messrs. Selfridge and Co., Ltd., of Oxford street, London. The guests, to the number of about 180, were received by Mr. P. A. Best, managing director, with whom were Mr. B. Martin, general manager for Dublin; Mr. T. O. Sullivan, secretary; Mr. M. Burgin, director; Mr. L. C. Blennerhassett, advertising manager; Mr. W. Greenaway, staff manager, and Mr. W. Fox, resident supervisor from the London headquarters. An interesting guest was Miss Gladys Burlton, director of Messrs. Selfridge's education department. Juniors who enter the firm's service receive a certain number of hours' instruction per week in the duties of their profession.

This is the second dinner to which the Dublin staff has been entertained since the establishment came under the new management, but on this occasion, unlike the last, the staffs of all the departments were present. At the conclusion of the dinner, a musical programme was presented by members of the staff.

During an interval, Mr. P. A. Best addressed the guests on behalf of Mr. Selfridge, who was unable to be present. He said that at this time, which was so pregnant with great possibilities, he wanted to say the right thing. His object in speaking to them was to give them a message of good-will from Mr. Selfridge and the Selfridge Organisation. He wanted them to have greater confidence in Selfridge and Co., and to instil a feeling of greater responsibility in their minds. In conveying the new year wishes of the parent house, he said that he believed that they stood on the threshold of the greatest year of growth and happiness in Dublin business. A greater measure of confidence on their part must be justified. Since the house of Selfridge took over Brown, Thomas's, the pay roll had increased month by month, the last demands of their union had been adjusted by an amicable settlement, and he appealed now for mutual co-operation. A point had been reached in commerce generally when all must pause and review the situation in which industry found itself. All further overtures must be made with a sense of responsibility and with a desire to achieve that harmony for which the whole world craved. No efficiency could be attained without esprit de corps, and he appealed to them to show how a band of workers can co-operate with the management for their mutual prosperity and happiness. He hated the expression "capital and labour," but if those two forces pulled in opposite directions, then there could be no real happiness. If they were all actuated by the same desires to live in harmony, friendship, and understanding, then they would help other businesses, and so influence the world for good. If they worked together in trust and confidence, then there were no problems which could not be settled. Referring to trade unions, Mr. Best said that he had every respect for the splendid work done by labour banded together, but old prejudices must be destroyed. Those who direct to-day had higher ideals than of old. Too much attention had been paid in the past to the merely mechanical in business management, and too little to the human side. Let them, by means of the staff council, keep alive the spirit of co-operation, and put this business house in the forefront of all other business houses in Ireland. Mr. Selfridge himself was deeply interested in the Grafton street branch, and had a very thorough knowledge and appreciation of the Irish character.

Votes of thanks to Mr. Gordon Selfridge, proposed by Mr. M. Byrne, and to Mr. P. A. Best, by Mr. B. Keogh, were passed by acclamation.

The function was organised entirely by the recently formed staff council, of which Mr. B. Keogh is the honorary secretary.

NEW ISSUE.

H. H. AND S. BUDGETT AND CO., LTD.

This company has a share capital of £450,000 in 300,000 7½ per cent. Cumulative Preference Shares and 150,000 Ordinary Shares of £1 each. 50,000 of the Ordinary Shares and 95,000 of the Preference Shares have been issued and fully paid up, and 154,500 of the Preference Shares are now offered for subscription at par. The Preference Shares already issued carry a 5 per cent. dividend, but by resolution recently passed this rate has been increased to 7½ per cent. H. H. and S. Budgett and Co., wholesale grocers and drysalters, of Bristol, was incorporated in 1898, and had then been in existence over 100 years. Since incorporation the company has taken up the manufacture of food products, and has acquired the share capital of Wedmore and Co., Ltd., and the St. Raphael Milling Co., Ltd., and now requires more capital for further extending its trade in the Midlands and West of England and South Wales. The trading marks of the company constitute a valuable asset. Certified figures disclose the fact that the net assets, after allowing for the proceeds of the present issue, but excluding goodwill and trade marks, provide ample margin for the Preference Shares, and the present net profits are sufficient to cover the dividend twice over. The company is a substantial concern, with a good connection, and the Preference Shares are a fairly good second class industrial investment, with nothing ahead of them to make the first call on the earnings. The share list is open, and will close on or before the 19th instant. (Prospectus Page 7.)

PROSPECTUS.

This Company was incorporated as a Limited Company on the 21st day of July, 1898, to acquire the business of H. H. and S. Budgett and Co., Wholesale Grocers and Drysalters, of Bristol, which had then been in existence for over 100 years.

Since its incorporation the Company has increased its business by the manufacture of food products and by the acquisition of other undertakings similar to its own. In the years 1916 and 1917 respectively the Company acquired the Share Capital of Wedmore and Co., Ltd., and the St. Raphael Milling Co., Ltd. The object of the present issue is, after discharging loans, to provide capital for the purpose of further extending the trade of the Company.

The Head and controlling establishment is at Bristol, situate at Bridewell street and occupying a site comprising the whole of one side of Bridewell street, with return frontages to Nelson street and Rupert street. The establishment includes extensive office, factory, and warehouse buildings, the greater part of which are of recent erection and are held on long lease direct from the Corporation of Bristol. The adjoining warehouse premises, Nos. 12 and 13 Nelson street, are held on perpetual lease, also direct from the Corporation.

The Company's branch at Swansea, comprising office and warehouse premises in York street is held on a ninety-nine years lease from 1916. It was built in 1916 by the Company, and modelled in accordance with the requirements of the extensive trade of this centre.

The Birmingham premises are leasehold, situate in Carr's lane and adjoining the Produce Exchange, with a further warehouse in Great Colmore street.

The Cardiff premises are leasehold, and are situated in New street, adjacent to the Great Western Railway.

The trade-marks of the Company, especially those of "The Crescent Brand" and "Red Ring" Flour, are known throughout the trading area and constitute a very valuable asset.

The whole of the issued Ordinary Shares are held by or on behalf of the Directors. With the present offer the amount of Preference Capital issued will be £250,000. The Certificate of the Auditors shows that the net assets of the Company, after allowing for the proceeds of the present issue, but making no allowance for the valuable goodwill and trade marks, provide ample margin for the preference shares whilst present net profits are sufficient to cover the Dividend more than twice over.

No debentures or debenture stock have at any time been issued. By the Articles of Association it is provided that no debentures or debenture stock charging any property of the Company shall be created without the consent of a majority of two-thirds in value of the Preference Shareholders present in person or by proxy at a separate meeting especially convened for the purpose.

The profits for the year 1914 were affected by the disorganisation following a serious fire, which took place on the 9th of August, 1913, causing considerable damage to the Bristol premises and plant, which was, however, fully covered by insurance. Advantage was then taken of the opportunity to bring the premises and plant up to the most modern requirements involving a considerable extra capital expenditure.

With regard to the Book Debts mentioned in the Auditors' Certificate, the system of trading being for cash or short credit, spread over a large number of accounts, the bad Debts are practically nil.

The trading turnover of the Company has been consistently progressive, as is evidenced by the following summary:—

(1) The average annual sales for the five years ended 19th March, 1904, were £118,333 more than for the first trading year to 25th March, 1899.

(2) The average annual sales for the ten years ended 7th March, 1914, were £91,405 more than the average annual sales for the preceding five years.

(3) The average annual sales for the five years ended 1st March, 1919, were £520,722 more than the average annual sales for the ten years to 7th March, 1914.

(4) The sales for the final year ended 1st March, 1919, were the highest on record in the history of the Company.

The Directors will give preferential consideration to applications from Shareholders, Customers of the Company, and the Trade.

The following Certificate has been received from the Auditors of the Company:—

1st December, 1919.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

MARCONIS, GUINNESS, AND OILS GOOD. TEXTILES IRREGULAR. DUNLOPS FIRM.

There was a moderate amount of dealing on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, with confidence generally, and in most cases improving prices. The Funds were better on balance, with Victory Loan and War Loan 4 p.c. most sought after. Banks were quiet, but Munsters were bid for, while Nationals were rather on sale. The tendency of Breweries and Distilleries was on the whole favourable. Marconi shares improved as the effect of the new issue is wearing off. Rails were quiet, but steady. Textiles were a trifle unsettled, with Coats weak at the close, while spinners and Calicoes were in good demand at higher prices. Cottons were dull. There were heavy dealings in some nondescript Miscellaneous securities. Marconi new shares and Marines were lively and good. Shells rose almost 1, while some excitement continued in the new shares of some recent prominent issues like Coats and Dunlop Rubbers.

There was a good tone to most leading Funds. War Loan 4½ p.c. rose ½ to 84, Funding Loan ¼ to 76½, and Victory Bonds no less than 1⅛ to 82. War Loan 5 p.c. eased to 92½-92, and the 4 p.c. fell ⅛ to 102⅛. Irish Land Stock shows no change, and in Township Stocks, Kingstown 3½ p.c. marked 60 for a small lot.

In Banks, Nationals fell ¼ to 19½. Munsters were ineffectually bid for at 7¼, the last price, but sellers appeared to look for 7½.

Breweries and Distilleries were better. Dublin Distillers Ord. rose 1s. 9d. to 49s. 6d., and Guinness ¼ to 35¾.

Steam and Canal were idle.

Marconis were strong. The Ord. rose 2s. 6d. to 87s. 6d., while the New Shares went ahead to 21s. 6d., 21s. 9d., 22s., and the "Marines" were bid up 4s. 6d. to 59s. 6d.

Home Rails were practically unaltered. Great Northern repeated 84, Great Southern 74½, and the Guaranteed 67½. Cork and Bandon 4 p.c. Guaranteed marked 60½; other issues were neglected.

Tramways, Parent Tyres, and Gas Shares were idle.

In Dunlop Rubber Shares, the Ord. were active and firm at 10⅞-⅞, and the Letters quoted 43s., 40s., 41s., 40s. 6d.

In Bakery Shares, Bolands rose 6d. to 50s. 6d.; but Johnston Debs. fell ⅛ to 6⅝, while in Drapery Shares, Arnotts fell ⅛ to 5⅞.

Manufacturing Shares, embracing as it does Textiles, were busy, and attracted a lot of attention. Calicoes rose 1s. 3d. to 38s. 3d., Spinners 1s. to 87s., 87s. 6d., and the Pref. 1½d. to 16s. 9d.; but Coats Ord. fell 2s. 3d. to 72s., after opening at 74s., and the "Letters" 2s. 6d. to 48s. for an odd lot. Cottons gave way 1/16 to 5¼. Bleachers and Dyers were steady. Others show no change.

In Trading, E. and J. Burke Debs. gave way ¼ to 8⅜. Bagots, Hutton and Co. Pref. repeated 80s. Dublin South City Markets eased 2s. 6d. to 82s. 6d.

Among other business done, Imperial Tobacco fell back 1s. to 69s. 6d., 69s. 3d., 69s. Mexican Eagle, however, rose 11/16 to 11 11/16; the new quoted 11½, and Shells rose 15/16 to 12⅞, 13/16. White, Tomkins "new" marked 25s., and Hibernian Fire, 4s. paid, 5s. 1½d.

After hours, Dunlop Rubber closed 10⅞ bid, and D.A.T. "Pool" shares 2s. 6d. paid 17s. 6d. Others idle.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

The directors of Tandjong Rubber consider that it is desirable to bring the issued capital of the company up to a sum more nearly equal to the value of the property as shown in the balance-sheet, and for this purpose to capitalise a portion of the reserves. The fixed assets stand in the balance-sheet at June 30th last as of the value of £255,927, which largely exceeds the amount of the present issued capital—namely, £150,000. There is now standing to the credit of the reserve and premium on issue of shares accounts a sum of £118,684, and the directors recommend that £100,000, part of that amount, should be capitalised and distributed among the members, free of tax, by issuing to them two fully-paid new shares for every three shares held by them. An extraordinary general meeting will be held at 38 Eastcheap, London, E.C., on January 20th at 12.30.

A Dudley message reports the formation of a great glass manufacturing combine in the Black Country, with three-quarters of a million capital, and an additional quarter of a million to be offered to the workers.

‡ The working costs of all these companies have been increased by holidays and also by the shortage of native labour. The above results do not include the increased price now being obtained under the new arrangement for the free disposal of gold shipped since July 25th last. The gold so far sold has realised a premium of approximately 19 per cent. Estimated additional profit earned will appear in the companies' annual reports. For the month of January and onwards profit declarations will include the approximate premium estimated to be earned on the gold produced for each month.

WOOL.—BRADFORD, Monday.—The opening of London sales to-day has the effect of keeping the Bradford market very quiet. Nobody will do business until they hear how values go in London. Since last sales in December there has been a weakening tendency all round in tops, but more especially in lower sorts. Quotations for yarns, however, have remained steady.

LONDON FREIGHTS—Monday.

Homeward markets generally quiet on private account and rates somewhat irregular, but there is a fair amount of activity in controlled trades at limitation rates. From the River Plate free cargoes of grain are in quiet request, and rates for maize rule at about 150/- to 152/6 up river loading, and 140/- to 142/6 down river ports, with directed vessels obtaining 65/- and 62/6 respectively to the United Kingdom. Continent also quiet at 185/- to 190/- for heavy grain, and 200/- Mediterranean. The Northern range American ports present a fair inquiry, and heavy grain moves off at 8/6 per qr. and flour 50/- per ton to the United Kingdom, with proportionate increases to France and Italy. Canadian grain, also Gulf rates, remain steady at recent level. There is a strong demand for Virginia coals at full rates, and 14 to 16 dollars quoted to South America, 23 dollars French Atlantic, 25½ dollars French Mediterranean, and 25 dollars Italy. American cotton freights steady. Nitrate quiet, apart from some inquiry on Continental account. Eastern markets generally quiet, but rates fairly steady; Karachi-Bombay quoted at 97/6 on dead weight home; Calcutta jute, 180/- per directed steamer to Dundee. Rice, sugar, and copra freights remain firm to the United Kingdom and the Continent. Ore freights remain steady, with a fair inquiry. Time charter rates are maintained, especially for vessels able to give early delivery. Australia seeks further space at 105/-, and South Africa 60/- per ton dead weight home. Outward markets generally quiet and rates somewhat irregular. There is a fair inquiry to North France, but Mediterranean ports display weakness.

IRISH BANK REPORTS.

THE BANK OF IRELAND.

The accounts of the Bank of Ireland at the 31st ult. have just been issued, and disclose many satisfactory records, in spite of an apparently strenuous half-year. The balance sheet deals with a total of £45,747,061. Notes in circulation fell by no less than £2,980,000 to £13,310,163, but Government and other public accounts have grown by £516,700 to £3,786,000, and deposit and current account balances by £4,726,541 to £24,756,72., or total liabilities of £41,852,988. The assets include cash and investments that total no less than £33,824,911, or just over 80 per cent. of the liabilities. Bills and advances stand at £11,512,632, an increase of £3,460,993, and Bank premises £409,517, an increase of £22,600. Gross profits at £424,595 were £62,000 larger, but expenditure has grown by almost £39,000 to £186,746. The net profits were £237,849, an increase of £23,017, but as £829 decrease was brought in at £41,993, the total for allocation was £279,842, an increase of £22,188. The sum of £125,000 was credited to investment depreciation, against £100,000 to reserve a year ago, while the dividend is again at the satisfactory rate of 12 per cent. per annum, leaving £38,534, a decrease of £2,813, to carry forward. The half-yearly meeting will be held on 20th inst. The record is entirely pleasing, and reflects largely increased usefulness, and, in spite of the larger expenditure, salaries, etc., a net increase in the actual profits allows of the fresh depreciation in investments being amply provided for without cutting down the shareholders' dividend, although the balance brought forward is cut down a little. The reserve fund remains at £970,000, the same as six months ago, but an increase of £50,000 in the year, while the paid-up capital, £2,769,230, is unaltered.

THE BANK OF IRELAND AND THE BRITISH BANK OF SOUTH AMERICA, LTD.

DUBLIN CORPORATION PAVING COMMITTEE.

On Tuesday the last meeting of the Paving Committee of the Dublin Corporation prior to the elections under the proportional representation system was held. The Committee complimented the Chairman (Alderman Dinnage) on the able manner in which he had discharged the duties of his office during the year. His Chairmanship was remarkable for the fact that the Corporation secured the first grant from the Road Board for the reconstruction of many city thoroughfares. It was largely due to the Alderman's exertions that the grant was substantially increased to £36,000—he, with the Deputy Chairman, having had several interviews with the representative of the Road Board in London, in the course of which the claim of Dublin to participate in the grant to an increased extent was strongly urged. In every respect the Alderman had proved himself a very capable and courteous Chairman, and the Committee unanimously recorded a warm vote of thanks to him for his services.

COUNTY LIMERICK LAND SALES.

On Wednesday, January 7th, Mr. W. H. Madden put up to auction for Mr. Lynch, Faustown House, Kilmallock, the interest in Knocklong House and lands, containing about 82 acres, I.P.M. The property was offered in two lots. Lot 1, the residence and 61 acres, held at a rent of £105, was, after keen competition, knocked down to Mr. P. Ryan, Cardiff, at £7,800 and fees. Mr. M. Moloney, solicitor, Kilmallock, had carriage of the sale. For the adjoining holding of 21 acres (without buildings), paying £31 interest in lieu of rent, the sum of £3,250 was obtained. Mr. Fox, solicitor, was declared the buyer, in trust for Mr. T. Bourke. The residence and lands realised the substantial sum of £11,050 and commission. Ballincoloo House and farm of 33 acres, annuity £28 15/, the property of Mr. T. Bennett, was sold by auction by Mr. Madden on Saturday for the sum of £4,150 and fees. The purchaser was Mr. Joseph Ryan, Kilballyowen. Mr. Fox, solicitor, Kilmallock, had carriage of the sale.

DUBLIN CORPORATION.

THE LORD MAYOR'S THANKS.

HALF-HOLIDAY AND POLLING DAY.

THE STORAGE RESERVOIR.

A special meeting of the Dublin Corporation was held yesterday in the City Hall for the purpose of dealing with business remaining over from the meeting on the 15th December. The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor presided.

At the opening of the proceedings the Lord Mayor said that, as that was the last meeting of the Council which should be held as at present constituted, he should like to say a word. Gentlemen, he continued, you and I have gone through three very perilous and very exacting years, and I consider it would be very ungenerous of me if I did not take this, which may, perhaps, be the last opportunity for some of us, of sincerely thanking you for the great kindness and consideration and the wonderful support you have given me through those three long and weary years.

THE CLONTARF LANDS.

Mr. Vaughan asked leave to make a personal explanation, and said that, in connection with a requisition recently handed in for a special meeting of the Corporation, it had gone round among the citizens and plot-holders in Dublin that the notice of motion was handed in by him to hand over land belonging to the Council to an individual, and deprive the plotholders of it. He wished to explain that he gave his signature to the requisition, and the next thing he saw was a letter in a newspaper. He did not authorise any notice of motion, and it was not drafted by him. It was written and handed in by Councillor Fox to the Town Clerk's Office. For his part, Mr. Vaughan added, he had advocated the getting of plots for everyone in Dublin, and it would be inconsistent on his part if he were to advocate any such thing as that contained in the notice of motion in question.

HALF-HOLIDAY AND POLLING DAY

Mr. P. T. Daly asked that a letter received by the Town Clerk from the Dublin Trades Council be read.

The Standing Orders having been suspended, Alderman Quaid said that before the letter was read he understood that it was an application for a half-holiday, and all he desired to ask was whether it was proposed that the half-holiday should be granted with or without wages.

The Town Clerk—The letter asks for a half-holiday, with pay.

Alderman Quaid—That is about the coolest proposition I know of.

Mr. P. T. Daly—Well, don't you get too hot.

Alderman Quaid—I suppose that the next thing will be that if they don't get the holiday they will go out on strike.

The Town Clerk read the letter from the Trades Council, which enclosed a resolution of that body, requesting the public bodies in the municipal area to give a half-holiday, with pay, to their employés to enable them to take part in the municipal elections.

Alderman Quaid asked the Town Clerk to read the Standing Orders, prescribing that no employé of the Council should interfere in a municipal election.

The Town Clerk read the Standing Order, which stated—"No officer or other person in the employment of the Corporation shall, except in the discharge of his duty, take an active part beyond recording his vote in any municipal election."

Mr. Foley said that he was opposed to permission being granted. The matter was one which offered a very wide field for discussion.

The Town Clerk said that he did not believe that the Council could spend money in such a matter. That was a special meeting called for a special purpose, and the matter before them did not appear on the agenda, but they had suspended the Standing Orders to take it up.

The Lord Mayor—What do you advise me?

The Town Clerk—I feel constrained to advise you not to give the half-holiday with pay—you can give it without pay if you like.

Mr. P. T. Daly moved, and Mr. Brohoon seconded, that the terms of the Trades Council's letter be complied with.

Alderman Quaid said that the employés of that Council who were showing Bolshevist tendencies were now seeking to frustrate the exercise of the free-will of the citizens. He ventured to say that the Corporation Standing Order would be honoured in the breach rather than the observance in the coming elections, and that the Corporation employés would be acting as presiding officers, and others would be hanging about outside the polling booths.

The Town Clerk—I am returning officer, and I want to do my duty well and properly for the citizens. I shall choose the best men for the work whether they be officers of the Corporation or not.

Alderman Quaid—You cannot employ Corporation officials under the Standing Orders.

The Town Clerk—I can employ them under the Standing Orders, certainly.

Alderman Farrell said that they should not take away the citizens' money unless a notice of motion appeared on the agenda.

Alderman Moran—I take it that the Town Clerk is entitled to employ anyone he likes.

Alderman McWalter moved that a half-holiday's leave without pay be granted to the Corporation employés on the polling day.

The motion was defeated by 20 votes to 14.

Mr. P. T. Daly said that if the Corporation gave a half-holiday to their workmen they must pay them, and on that account he had voted against Alderman McWalter's motion. It had been suggested that the half-holiday was proposed with a certain object. It was claimed in the Labour movement that the day of a general election should be a holiday, and they had also claimed that all licensed houses should be closed on the polling day, and that the election should be held at such a period and in such circumstances as would enable every citizen to record his or her vote without any intimidation and with every fair-play. In the municipal area, year after year, the Labour Party had put forward that scheme, and every public Board had conceded that demand except the Port and Docks Board.

Alderman Quaid asked the Town Clerk whether double pay would be given to each employé for the half-day.

Mr. P. T. Daly—I say that double time will not be claimed for the men who are compelled to remain at work.

Alderman Quaid—The Town Clerk is trying to shift his responsibility on to Councillor Daly.

The Town Clerk—I have not tried to shift my responsibility on to Councillor Daly. Councillor Daly has told you that double pay will not be claimed. If you pay men you pay them for the week, and if you were paying a week's wages you would not pay more than a week's wages.

On a division there voted:—

For the motion—The Lord Mayor, Aldermen Corry and O'Toole; Councillors Rooney, M'Garry, O'Neill, Scully, J. S. Kelly, P. T. Daly, James Higgins, Brohoon, Martin O'Connor, O'Looney, Power, Cosgrave, M.P.; Donaghy, Groome—17.

Against—Aldermen Keogh, Moran, Quaid, Dinnage, and Farrell; Councillors M. J. Kelly, Foley, Moran, McAvin, D. Daly, Lennon, Kennedy, Maher, Sir Patrick Shortall, and O'Reilly—15.

The Lord Mayor declared the motion carried.

ROUNDWOOD RESERVOIR.

On the suggestion of Mr. Cosgrave, correspondence with regard to the completion of the new storage reservoir at Roundwood was brought before the meeting.

A letter was received from the Local Government Board conveying the remarks of the Board on the report of their Engineering Inspector, Mr. Price, on the inquiry into the application of the Corporation for sanction to a supplemental loan of £160,000 for the purpose of completing the new storage reservoir at Roundwood, and stating that when the questions raised in the letter had been settled the Board would be prepared to sanction the required loan.

A letter from the City Engineer stated the arrangements which he had made for engineering supervision and control of the contract work in connection with the new reservoir, and as to other points raised in the letter of the Local Government Board.

A letter was received from Mr. J. M. McDowell, solicitor, protesting on behalf of Mr. M. A. Moynihan, C.E., against the action of the Council in passing their resolution on November 10th, 1919, relative to the contract for the completion of the new reservoir, on the ground that the resolution interfered with the terms and conditions of his appointment.

The Town Clerk read a letter also from the Law Agent making suggestions with regard to the contract of Messrs. Martin, on compliance with which the Local Government Board would be ready to sanction the loan, and also in reference to the adoption of the report of the Borough Surveyor and the communication of it to the Local Government Board with a request to expedite the sanction of the loan. It was also mentioned that there was no intention of depriving Mr. Moynihan of anything attaching to his original appointment. But the Council had appointed Mr. M. J. Buckley, the Borough Surveyor, as engineer.

Mr. Cosgrave said that the matter was of great importance to the city. In view of the importance of getting the work done the Committee might allow matters to glide on into the time when a new committee would take up the work. He moved that the terms of the letter of the Law Agent be adopted, and that the Waterworks Committee be requested to facilitate the carrying out of the contract to enable the work to be proceeded with without delay. The Waterworks Committee might, he thought, come together to allow the work to be gone on with.

Mr. P. T. Daly said that the Waterworks Committee could not accept responsibility for the position that had been created. The Committee did everything they could, and acted in the best interests of the city. The Committee would be meeting on the following day, and whatever the view of the Council was, it would receive the respectful consideration of the Committee.

Mr. O'Looney seconded the motion of Mr. Cosgrave requesting the Waterworks Committee to facilitate the carrying out of the work without delay. He said that there were complaints about the works being held up.

Alderman Farrell also impressed on the Council that there should be no delay. The Law Agent showed that there was no intention on the part of the Council to take any authority from Mr. Moynihan, the Deputy Borough Surveyor. The work was urgent, and every day's delay meant increased expenditure to the city. They could not shift the responsibility on to the shoulders of the new Corporation.

Mr. Sherlock said that every day's delay meant loss to the ratepayers, and there was also considerable danger of work already done falling in.

Mr. Moran said that it was a huge contract, and they had already lost money on it. He suggested that by proceeding to-day under the engineer they had appointed they were not hastening matters. They should comply with the suggestion of the Local Government Board that they should carry on the contract under an engineer experienced in work of the kind. He did not think that either the borough surveyor or the deputy borough surveyor was experienced in work of the kind. He expressed the view that perhaps the best course to adopt would be to postpone the matter, and have the letter of the Local Government Board printed and circulated.

Mr. J. S. Kelly seconded the amendment in favour of postponement.

Alderman Quaid said that a distinguished consulting engineer was available in the city. There should, he thought, be a sub-committee associated with the Borough Engineer.

There were several interruptions while Alderman Quaid was speaking, and some members, on the other hand, said that the Alderman should get fair-play.

Alderman Quaid—I never get fair-play. The representatives of the rate-payers never get fair-play.

Mr. O'Neill suggested that in fairness to the Borough Surveyor his letter in reference to the works should be read.

The Town Clerk then read a letter from the Borough Surveyor (Mr. Buckley), in which he went in detail into various matters connected with the work, and said that a consulting engineer had been engaged in connection with the works since they began, and his close connection with the scheme should be a reason for setting a value on his service. If difficult points should arise he (Mr. Buckley) would ask the Corporation to let him employ the services of any eminent engineer that might be thought fit. The arrangements for the supervision of the works would be adequate.

Alderman McWalter said that an important point had been raised by Mr. Moran as to the services of an eminent engineer; but it appeared that Mr. Buckley had provided for that, and he thought that Mr. Cosgrave's motion in favour of proceeding with the work ought to be adopted.

The amendment in favour of the postponement of the matter was put to the meeting, and defeated by 36 votes to 5.

The original motion asking the Waterworks Committee to expedite the work was then passed.

Shortly after four o'clock the Council adjourned without having completed the business on the agenda.

KEYSTONE £484,000 required to meet loss on exchange in India & China

WORLD BROTHERHOOD AND THE POUND NOTE

A Chasm lies between World Brotherhood and the peoples of Asia.

Nothing can bridge that chasm save the Spirit of Christ.

The Missionary Societies exist solely to carry Christ to the world.

The work is gravely hindered by the serious loss on exchange into Eastern currency.

Work which cost £100 in India in 1915 costs now £175.

In China the rise in cost in the same period has been from £100 to £275.

Generous contributions are asked for the undernamed Societies co-operating in this advertisement, in order to avert the otherwise inevitable withdrawal from fields of splendid opportunity.
